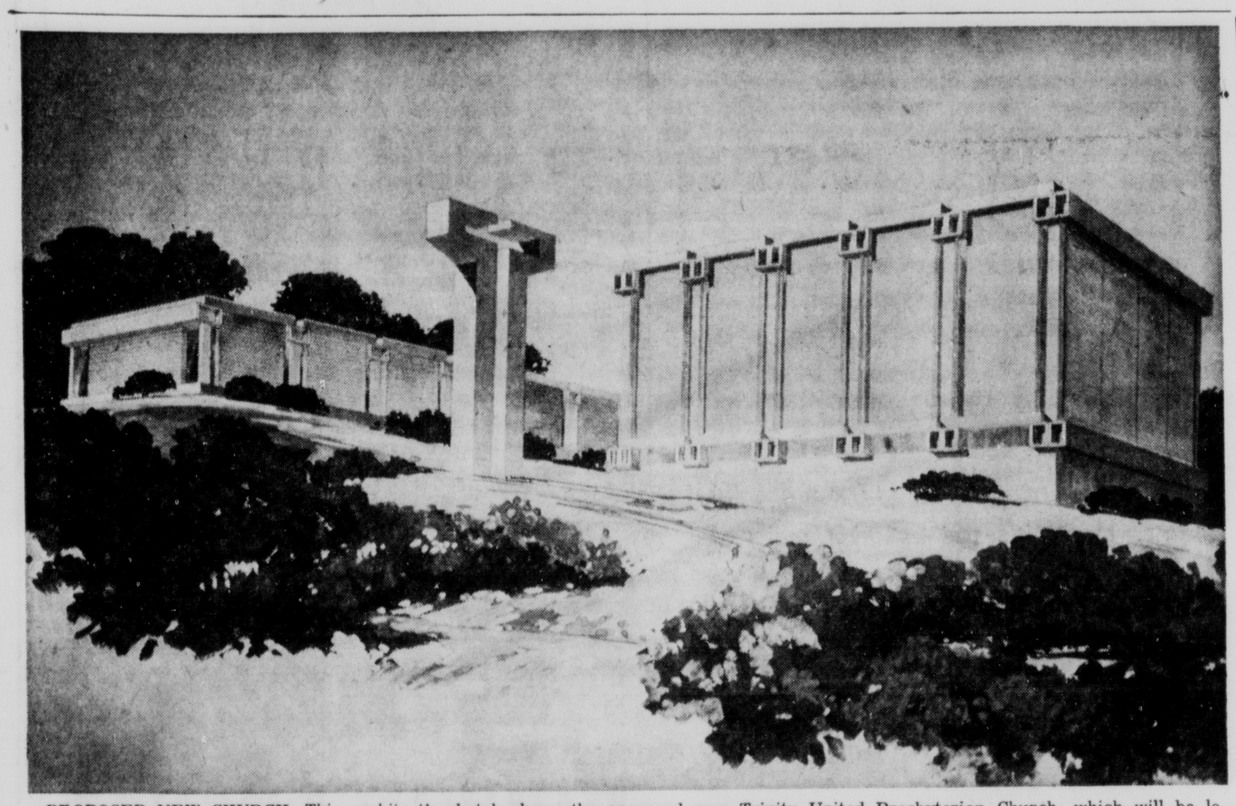
Premier Withdraws Invitation To Ike



PROPOSED NEW CHURCH. This architect's sketch shows the proposed new Trinity United Presbyterian Church, which will be located on an 11-acre tract on Maine Blvd. Estimated to cost more than $600,000, construction will require nearly a year after work is started. The educational wing is at the left with the sanctuary on the right. A modernistic cross is in the foreground. Paul Schweikher of Pittsburgh and James Nessly Porter of East Liverpool, a member of the congregation, were the associated architects who designed the new structures.

Head Of GOP Declines Race For 4th Term

Pike, Whitacre Seen Top Candidates For McSweeney's Job

Atty. James L. McSweeney of Wellsville announced today he will not be a candidate for re-election as chairman of the Columbiana County Republican Central Committee, which will elect officers at its biennial organization meeting Tuesday night at 8 at St. George Parish Hall at Lisbon.

McSweeney said he is declining to run again because the position is "too time consuming." He has served as chairman for six years, having been elected first in 1954.

He will remain as a member of the committee. He also is a member of the Columbiana County Board of Elections.

McSweeney said Atty. Charles A. Pike of Lisbon and Ernest Whitacre of Salem Township, an apple farmer and retired industrialist, are the chief candidates for the post. Pike recently was named to the Election Board.

Aside from McSweeney, the present officers are Whitacre, vice chairman; Pike, treasurer, and Frank R. O'Hanlon of East Liverpool, secretary.

The meeting is for members elected to the committee at the May 3 primaries. It is comprised of one member from each of the 152 precincts.

Don Gosney Returned As Head Of Democrats

Don R. Gosney of Columbiana was elected unanimously to his sixth term as chairman of the Columbiana County Democratic Executive and Central committees at a reorganization meeting Saturday night at the Lisbon Village Hall.

Other officers of the Executive committee named are: Atty. Paul Tobin of East Liverpool, Atty. Guy Mauro of Salem and Clifford Fultz of Wellsville, vice chairmen, and Sharon Quigley of East Liverpool, secretary—treasurer.

Other officers of the Central Committee are Atty. Tobin of East Liverpool, vice chairman, and Quigley, secretary-treasurer.

Gosney named Mrs. Kay Blackburn of Columbiana to continue as county chairwoman.

Population Of Beaver Increases To 206,158

BEAVER FALLS — Beaver County has a 1960 population of 206,158, according to preliminary census figures released today by Beaver County commissioners.

The figure represents an increase of 17.6 per cent over the 1950 population of 175,192. The increase in 1950 was 11.3 per cent. Census results were turned over to Commissioner Sam McCune by Delbert Dennison, district census director at Aliquippa.

A breakdown for towns over 10,000 is expected later.

Trinity Plan Cleared

Church Approves Building Details

Construction of a new church costing more than $600,000 on an 11-acre tract on Maine Blvd. was authorized by the congregation of the Trinity United Presbyterian Church at a corporational meeting during the Sunday morning service.

The congregation approved the recommendation of the Board of Trustees to accept low bids totaling $547,777. An additional $75,000 will be required for furnishings and equipment.

IN ACCEPTING low bids, the congregation also authorized the board to borrow up to $200,000 as needed.

The low bids were submitted by the Potters Construction Co. for $426,857 on the general contract, Sayre Electric Contracting Co. for $57,252 for electrical work and the Salem Plumbing & Heating Co. for $63,668 for plumbing and heating.

Seven other bids were received, including four others on the general contract, one for electrical work and two for plumbing and heating.

James A. Locke Jr., president of the 12-man board, presided at the corporational meeting. Willen Baumgarner, chairman, submitted reports of the building committee.

Construction will begin as soon as practical with the work expected to require 44 to 50 weeks for completion. The Maine Blvd. tract was donated to the church by Standley T. Hilbert, a member of the congregation.

—:—

PAUL SCHWEIKHER of Pittsburgh and James Nessly Porter of East Liverpool, another member of the congregation, were associated as architects in designing the new structure, which will replace the present church on E. 4th St.

With the exception of minor changes, the design and plans are the same as the congregation approved at a special meeting in April 1958.

The main sanctuary will be 94-x-68-feet with a seating capacity of 600 and provisions to accommodate another 150 with overflow seating. The church now has 1,400 members with the Rev. M. Rudolph Miller as minister.

The sanctuary will be connected to an educational wing measuring 214-x-50- feet and a parking lot 175-x-310 feet will be provided for some 300 autos.

Nixon Visions Some Good From 'Spy Plane' Incident

NEW YORK (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon declared Sunday night that some good had come out of the U2 spy plane affair and said the Big Four leaders should "put surprise attack at the top of the summit agenda."

He defended reconnaissance flights over the Soviet Union under the present conditions and denied that the United States had erred in timing the flight just three weeks before the opening of the summit meeting in Paris today.

In an extraordinary, marathon television interview that ran nearly four hours into the early morning, Nixon said the United States could not afford any gap in its intelligence.

As for the U2 flight timing, he observed: "There is never a right time to make one of these flights if you're going to get caught."

Apparently unruffled and cool, Nixon sat under a wide-ranging barrage of penetrating questions while interviewer David Susskind smoked cigarettes and sipped coffee.

Concerning the good in the U2 affair, Nixon said: "The plus is this. You realize that this flight clearly demonstrates the feasibility of the 'open skies' proposal of the President."

He noted that the proposal, suggested by Eisenhower at the Geneva summit meeting in 1955, was "to protect Russia, the United States and all other nations from a surprise attack."

"This flight demonstrates that unarmed planes can take photographs without causing any damage, any harm at all to commercial aviation or the national security of the country over which the flights are made," Nixon added.

In the 3 hours and 45 minutes of talk on WNTA-TV's "Open End" program, the vice president declined to answer only two questions and squirmed noticeably once. That was when Susskind asked if he ever regretted name-calling in his early political career.

"Every man obviously changes in the years," Nixon answered, "and I won't say that through the years I didn't make mistakes."

Motorist Gets Fine Of $750 And Jail Term

Record Of Violations Helps Court Decide Driver's Sentence

Accused of "making a career out of driving under the influence," a W. 8th St. motorist today was handed one of the stiffest sentences ever decreed in Municipal Court on charges of driving under the influence of intoxicating liquor and driving a motor vehicle while his license was suspended.

Charles N. Curry, 715 W. 8th St., drew penalties totaling $750 in fines, a year in jail, and a new license suspension of three years after pleading guilty to both counts before Judge Samuel M. Chertoff.

The judge ordered the stiff sentences after ordering Asst. Solicitor Richard J. Clark to check court records on other violations.

Clark told the court Curry has been arrested twice on charges of being in physical control of an auto while intoxicated and four times for driving under the influence in the last 8 years. In addition, he also was charged twice with driving under suspension and court records show his license was revoked once by Common Pleas Court under the state's point system.

Judge Chertoff fined Curry $500 and costs and six months in the city jail on the charge of driving while under the influence.

"It may seem useless since you don't have a license but I'm also ordering a license suspension of three years. I'm going to see to it you never have a license," he said.

For driving while his license was suspended, Curry was fined $250 and costs and Judge Chertoff ordered him to serve six months in the county jail after serving out the jail term in the city charge.

The judge also told Curry it will be "a vain act" for anyone to appeal in his behalf. "I will turn a deaf ear to those who come forward on your behalf. You are a menace to the people in the city," he said.

When Curry stepped before the bench, Judge Chertoff told him, "You are making a career out of driving under the influence." Learning of the charge of driving under suspension, Judge Chertoff then told the assistant solicitor to look up Curry's record.

When court reconvened after a brief recess, Judge Chertoff declared:

"You're an accident running around looking for a place to happen. If you continue to drive, that accident will happen. "I'm going to forestall a death. The action I'm going to take will save some-

Soviets Fire Protest Over French Craft

Paris Aide Reports Apology Was Made To Reds In Incident

BONN, Germany (AP) — The Soviet Union protested today that an unidentified plane flying in from West Germany violated air space of Communist East Germany May 5. An Allied spokesman said the plane was a small French tourist aircraft that strayed across the Iron Curtain.

The spokesman said the incident was routine and the French representative at the four-power air safety center in Berlin had apologized to Soviet authorities.

"We get about eight of these incidents a month," one Allied official said.

Nevertheless the Soviets went ahead with a full-scale protest, fired off notes to the three Western powers.

Delivery of the notes apparently was timed with the opening of the summit conference in Paris.

The French Embassy said the aircraft was a sport plane with one occupant. It was flying from Strasbourg, in eastern France, to Malmoe, southern Sweden, and got lost en route, an embassy spokesman said.

Emergency Forces Practice Mobilizing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States practiced mobilizing its emergency defense forces early today in what the Pentagon called a communications readiness alert.

The alert, conducted at the direction of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, affected all U.S. commands both in this country and overseas. Similar practice alerts are conducted periodically.

The alert was canceled several hours after it was called.

In some cases, commercial radio and television stations were called on to notify bomber and fighter pilots off duty to report to their bases. A series of such announcements at Denver, Colo. for Lowry Air Force Base personnel, caused a flood of calls to newspaper and radio switchboards.

Offutt Air Force Base at Omaha, Neb., headquarters of the Strategic Air Command, went on what was described as an "alert posture."

Strange Glow Only Sunlight; Remember It?

That strange glow in the sky is sunshine. Remember it?

After eight full days of rain and gloomy skies, sunshine returned to the East Liverpool district Sunday and everyone made the most of it.

Power mowers hummed throughout the suburban areas as householders caught up on grass trimming that had been postponed a week. Children wheeled out bicycles and put baseball equipment into use, although their "diamonds" still were a little muddy.

And dozens of families, prompted by the first fine weather in over a week, hopped into the car for a visit with relatives or a look at the bright spring countryside.

The constant rain was good news for at least one segment of the population. It provided some of the best hay-growing weather in years for farmers. But, conversely, it held up other field work.

Home gardeners hoped, meanwhile, that the warm sunshine would put life into seeds saturated by the rain and restore freshly-planted shrubs, which had just a little too much precipitation for their own good.

The mercury went up to a high of 77 at 4 p. m. yesterday, according to the reading at Dam 8. The overnight low was 54.

Sunshine, it's wonderful!

Today's high will be 70 to 75, but scattered showers or thunderstorms are due tonight and Tuesday, the Ohio weatherman said. The low tonight will be 52-56.

Satellite On Course

Soviets Now Talk Of Man In Space

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviets say their 4½ ton dummy manned space ship—the biggest satellite ever launched—is whizzing around the earth on course.

"There soon will be a man in space," the Soviets said.

Hurled aloft by a super-rocket, the giant ship was reported sending back signals confirming "the good agreement between its actual orbit and the calculated one" for its flight around the globe every 91 minutes.

Dr. Viktor Bazzekin, director of the Moscow Planetarium, conceded there are still problems to be solved before sending up a live astronaut—the main one being how to get him back to earth safely.

The official news agency Tass said no attempt will be made to retrieve the dummy passenger riding in a pressurized cabinet with "all the necessary equipment for a future manned space flight."

Soviet scientists said the 2½-ton cabinet would be separated from the satellite after the 'necessary information" is received but would burn up in the atmosphere as it drops.

The Soviets gave only skimpy details Sunday in announcing the launching of their latest space vehicle on the eve of the Paris summit conference.

I. I. Shevlyakov, head of the scientific methodological department of the Moscow Planetarium, said "the flight of this ship will

Didn't Know How To Fly

Husband Dies At Controls, Wife 'Crash-Lands' Plane

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—A woman who crash-landed a small plane after her pilot-husband died at the controls recuperated today at a Dallas hospital.

Mrs. Spencer F. Black, 39, of Dallas, who said she did not know how to fly a plane, brought the craft down at Dallas' Love Field Saturday night. She suffered severe cuts and bruises.

An autopsy report on her husband, a 50-year-old oilman, is expected this week. It is believed he died of a heart attack while flying his four-place, single-engine plane from Fort Worth to Dallas.

"He started gasping and threw back his head. His mouth fell open and he started breathing hard and slumped down in the seat. I couldn't feel any pulse," Mrs. Black said.

She had to reach past his body to grasp the wheel. As she flew over the airport she shouted "SOS" over and over into the radio.

Control tower personnel tried to direct her to a landing but they could not tell if Mrs. Black heard their instructions.

Mrs. Black said she flew around until she had used about half a tank of gas "and then decided to just try and set it down without a crackup."

She passed over the field once, headed for downtown Dallas, turned around and then came toward the field in a steady downward direction.

The plane hit the runway at a steep angle and bounced about 40 feet. It hit again about 300 feet from the first impact. The engine was hurled 100 feet and the left wing crumped under the fuselage.

Black was pinned in the cockpit when firemen arrived. Mrs. Black was found outside the plane.

Paris Parley Seen Ready To Fold As Result Of Red Stand

BULLETIN

PARIS (AP) — President Eisenhower told Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev today U.S. spy flights over Russia have been suspended "and are not to be resumed."

PARIS (AP) — The summit conference foundered today on the U2 incident.

Premier Nikita Khrushchev withdrew his invitation to President Eisenhower to visit the Soviet Union next month.

The bitter three-hour session held today may be the last of the summit conference. Western officials accused Khrushchev of torpedoing the meeting by insults and demands.

Khrushchev proposed that the summit conference be postponed for six months to allow international tempers to subside.

He demanded that Eisenhower promise the United States will conduct no more intelligence flight over the Soviet Union. He also insisted the President punish all those responsible for the May 1 flight of the U2, downed over the Soviet Union.

A tentative agreement was reached for the summit meeting to reconvene Tuesday, but Western officials said this session promises to be only a formality.

After today's meeting, a Soviet spokesman asked how any agreement could be reached on easing tension —one of the aims of the summit session—"when the government of one of the great powers declares bluntly its policy is an intrusion into the affairs of another state."

The Soviet spokesman's version of today's session was that Eisenhower had confirmed flights like that of the U2 as part of "the calculated policy of the United States."

The spokesman quoted Khrushchev as saying:

"Some time should be allowed so that questions can settle down."

Khrushchev charged that the conference was torpedoed by "reactionary circles in the United States."

"We cannot under the present situation take part in negotiations," he was quoted as saying.

Khrushchev and Eisenhower met for 3 hours 5 minutes today in the Cabinet Room of Elysee Palace. They sat around a 16-foot, green-topped table with Britain's Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and President Charles de Gaulle of France.

The Soviet spokesman quoted Khrushchev as saying it was impossible to ignore Eisenhower's statements that the President could not take part in talks with the Soviet threat of a separate German peace treaty hanging over such a conference.

He said Khrushchev asked how the Soviet government could negotiate in conditions of an actual threat that the U. S. government would continue to violate Soviet air space.

Khrushchev was quoted as saying:

"It follows from all this that for the success of the conference, the governments of all represented countries must make a solemn promise: They will not take any acts against the others. This means that if the United States is really ready to cooperate with other powers it must condemn in the first place inadmissible provocative acts of the U.S. Air Force and refrain from continuing such acts and policies."

Khrushchev, the spokesman added, said that so long as the U.S. government did not do this," the Soviet government sees no way for productive negotiations with the U. S. government at the summit conference."

After eight full days of rain and gloomy skies, sunshine returned to the East Liverpool district Sunday and everyone made the most of it.

Power mowers hummed throughout the suburban areas as householders caught up on grass trimming that had been postponed a week. Children wheeled out bicycles and put baseball equipment into use, although their "diamonds" still were a little muddy.

And dozens of families, prompted by the first fine weather in over a week, hopped into the car for a visit with relatives or a look at the bright spring countryside.

The constant rain was good news for at least one segment of the population. It provided some of the best hay-growing weather in years for farmers. But, conversely, it held up other field work.

Home gardeners hoped, meanwhile, that the warm sunshine would put life into seeds saturated by the rain and restore freshly-planted shrubs, which had just a little too much precipitation for their own good.

The mercury went up to a high of 77 at 4 p. m. yesterday, according to the reading at Dam 8. The overnight low was 54.

Sunshine, it's wonderful!

Today's high will be 70 to 75, but scattered showers or thunderstorms are due tonight and Tuesday, the Ohio weatherman said. The low tonight will be 52-56.

Satellite On Course

Soviets Now Talk Of Man In Space

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviets say their 4½ ton dummy manned space ship—the biggest satellite ever launched—is whizzing around the earth on course.

"There soon will be a man in space," the Soviets said.

Hurled aloft by a super-rocket, the giant ship was reported sending back signals confirming "the good agreement between its actual orbit and the calculated one" for its flight around the globe every 91 minutes.

Dr. Viktor Bazzekin, director of the Moscow Planetarium, conceded there are still problems to be solved before sending up a live astronaut—the main one being how to get him back to earth safely.

The official news agency Tass said no attempt will be made to retrieve the dummy passenger riding in a pressurized cabinet with "all the necessary equipment for a future manned space flight."

Soviet scientists said the 2½-ton cabinet would be separated from the satellite after the 'necessary information" is received but would burn up in the atmosphere as it drops.

The Soviets gave only skimpy details Sunday in announcing the launching of their latest space vehicle on the eve of the Paris summit conference.

I. I. Shevlyakov, head of the scientific methodological department of the Moscow Planetarium, said "the flight of this ship will

Husband Dies At Controls, Wife 'Crash-Lands' Plane

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—A woman who crash-landed a small plane after her pilot-husband died at the controls recuperated today at a Dallas hospital.

Mrs. Spencer F. Black, 39, of Dallas, who said she did not know how to fly a plane, brought the craft down at Dallas' Love Field Saturday night. She suffered severe cuts and bruises.

An autopsy report on her husband, a 50-year-old oilman, is expected this week. It is believed he died of a heart attack while flying his four-place, single-engine plane from Fort Worth to Dallas.

"He started gasping and threw back his head. His mouth fell open and he started breathing hard and slumped down in the seat. I couldn't feel any pulse," Mrs. Black said.

She had to reach past his body to grasp the wheel. As she flew over the airport she shouted "SOS" over and over into the radio.

Control tower personnel tried to direct her to a landing but they could not tell if Mrs. Black heard their instructions.

Mrs. Black said she flew around until she had used about half a tank of gas "and then decided to just try and set it down without a crackup."

She passed over the field once, headed for downtown Dallas, turned around and then came toward the field in a steady downward direction.

The plane hit the runway at a steep angle and bounced about 40 feet. It hit again about 300 feet from the first impact. The engine was hurled 100 feet and the left wing crumped under the fuselage.

Black was pinned in the cockpit when firemen arrived. Mrs. Black was found outside the plane.

one's life, perhaps your own," he told Curry.

Police arrested Curry Saturday night on W 8th St. Patrolman M. L. Fowler said he saw Curry come off Lisbon St. onto W. 8th St. and head west in the eastbound lane and make a left turn onto W. 4th St. Ext.

The cruiser officer said he stopped Curry and asked to see his license. When Curry replied he didn't have a license, Patrolman Fowler said he told him to get in the cruiser.

Curry had a difficult time getting out of his car and was unsteady on his feet, the officer said, so he notified him he was under arrest for driving while under the influence.

When they arrived at police headquarters, the officer said Curry admitted his license had been suspended and wasn't due to be returned until Sept. 1. He then also was charged with driving under suspension.

Five other drivers were fined in hearings this morning, including three for using improper registration.

Glenn Lee Cunningham, 802 Riverview St., was fined $25 and costs for driving with expired license plates. He was cited at 7:17 a. m. today on Dresden Ave. because he was using a 1959 Virginia license, police said.

go down in the annals of astronautics as one of the last steps before mankind's emergence into outer space."

Prof. Vladimir Dobronravov, a top space man, said the launching was linked with the "super-rocket test firings" into the Pacific last January. In London, a spokesman for the British Interplanetary society estimated the rocket propelling the Soviet ship was two or three times more powerful than the U.S. Atlas and Titan rockets.

The rocket went into orbit approximately 200 miles up and began sending back beeps that sounded like a distant train whistle. The Sputnik is visible to the naked eye in hours of darkness. It was first sighted in the United States at 4:10 a.m. by moonwatchers in Dayton, Ohio.

one's life, perhaps your own," he told Curry.

Police arrested Curry Saturday night on W 8th St. Patrolman M. L. Fowler said he saw Curry come off Lisbon St. onto W. 8th St. and head west in the eastbound lane and make a left turn onto W. 4th St. Ext.

The cruiser officer said he stopped Curry and asked to see his license. When Curry replied he didn't have a license, Patrolman Fowler said he told him to get in the cruiser.

Curry had a difficult time getting out of his car and was unsteady on his feet, the officer said, so he notified him he was under arrest for driving while under the influence.

When they arrived at police headquarters, the officer said Curry admitted his license had been suspended and wasn't due to be returned until Sept. 1. He then also was charged with driving under suspension.

Five other drivers were fined in hearings this morning, including three for using improper registration.

Glenn Lee Cunningham, 802 Riverview St., was fined $25 and costs for driving with expired license plates. He was cited at 7:17 a. m. today on Dresden Ave. because he was using a 1959 Virginia license, police said.

Thomas F. Black of Lisbon R. D. 2, an employe of an auto agency, cited this morning for driving a truck without license plates, was given a suspended fine of $15 and costs.

David L. Hoppel, 714 Maplewood Ave., also charged with using improper registration, was fined $25 and costs. He was cited Saturday afternoon on Park Way, police said.

Bernard Tepovic, 836 Virginia Ave., Midland, was fined $5 and costs for crashing a red traffic signal Saturday night at Pennsylvania Ave. and State St.

John H. Dawson of Calcutta was fined $10 and costs on a reckless driving charge. He was cited Friday night at Apple and Potters Alleys, police said.

In London, a spokesman for the British Interplanetary society estimated the rocket propelling the Soviet ship was two or three times more powerful than the U.S. Atlas and Titan rockets.

The rocket went into orbit approximately 200 miles up and began sending back beeps that sounded like a distant train whistle. The Sputnik is visible to the naked eye in hours of darkness. It was first sighted in the United States at 4:10 a.m. by moonwatchers in Dayton, Ohio.

Nathan Hale Was A Yale Man

Whatever other effects, either good or bad, come out of the moment of truth following U.S. admission that the Soviet Union really did catch an American air-borne spy, millions of Americans now are newly acquainted with one of their most important federal agencies.

There still is no way to find out what it spends. It might be as much as a billion; it might be as little as 100 million. The total of its employes is not known. There may be as many as 30,000, or as few as 3,000.

Nothing is known about their names, salaries, titles and duties. They can be hired and fired without observing regulations that cover other government employes. Some are cloak-and-dagger operators. Some are experts in economics and geography. Some are picked for special talents that make them peculiarly useful. All are chosen because they have some quality that presumably will help them make their employer the equivalent in due time of the British intelligence organization, the most adroit and thorough of all. But their mysterious agency — referred to in Washington as The Agency — presumably is justifying its cost and unique privileges. Its short comings are being overcome with experience.

It has existed since 1947. Officially, its title is Central Intelligence Agency. Its director is Allen W. Dulles, brother of the late John Foster Dulles. He is appointed by the President, subject to confirmation by the U.S. Senate. The CIA operates under the National Security Council.

NEVER BEFORE have so many Americans known so little about so many of their own employes. In the very nature of its operations, its activities are bound to backfire occasionally, and when they do there always will be the accusation that the blooper was badly timed.

All bloopers are badly timed. There are no good bloopers.

In the modern spy business, the main thing is not to commit any. They don't build statues any more to Nathan Hales who get caught. They write their names off the list and, if necessary, say they never heard of them. Never is it admitted that anyone in any official capacity ever gave the order that caused a spy to be where he was when he was caught.

Today, if a Nathan Hale did anything so inept as to enter enemy lines and get nabbed in as obvious a disguise as a Dutch school teacher, the CIA — if it had been a party to the scheme — probably would deny that it ever had hired a Yale man in the first place and least of all Nathan Hale in the second place.

A FIRST-RATE spy organization in a nation of popular sovereignty is a first-rate problem. For every hour of worry that has been wasted on J. Edgar Hoover's Federal Bureau of Investigation, two hours have been put in to good advantage on CIA, because no one really knows how to keep it from turning into a kind of invisible tail that might wag a visibly embarrassed dog.

Something like this may have happened in the last few days, but with spies no one can be sure. The game they play is not for fun and it is for keeps. And anyone who assumes that suddenly there is nothing but the truth being told because previously there had been nothing but lies are underestimating the game and the players — ours and the Russians, too. The boys may just be feeling each other out in a search for something more important. That's part of the game, too.

The Burden Of Government

Statistics from Columbus show each resident of Columbiana County is currently shouldering a debt of some $1,800 toward the cost of operating and preserving the republic—from road improvements to nuclear bomb storage.

Local government debt in the county amounted to $144 per person as of Dec. 31, a considerable jump over the $40.09 each individual owed 10 years ago.

Besides the county debt, the citizen also owes $54 for the state of Ohio's obligations and $1,583 for the national debt.

The revelation of this obligation, added to the current payment of local, state and federal taxes, stimulates some deep thinking upon the relationship of the citizen to his government.

Should government cost this much? Must the cost ever spiral? When will it stop?

The cost is a reflection of our needs and demands — from the village and townships to Washington and the Summit conference.

We want good roads, more services, additional benefits and other governmental functions not available 10 years ago. We must have expanded facilities to meet the growing population. We have to maintain a costly national defense program in the face of the Communist threat.

Furthermore, the cost of government has become inflated, just as our paychecks have become inflated.

The average citizen is aware of the cause for the increase in the per capita debt. He accepts it, but cannot help but feel that a sizable margin of the debt and cost of government could be trimmed with a little more efficient planning to eliminate waste and duplication and a little less politics by which fund are dispersed with the wrong objectives.

Sensible–And Fun

Through the efforts of a lot of hard-working people, post-prom parties have become an established part of the annual dances held by district high schools.

The parties are a sensible approach to the questions of "Where to go?" and "What to do?" after the ball is over. And, along with being sensible, they're a lot fun. The entertainment is most cases is topnotch and the food good. Such affairs include all the comforts and pleasures of going out of town without the hazards.

To the Jaycees and all the others responsible — keep up the good work.

More Than Clay

District potters who take such a personal pride in their work would have gotten a lot of satisfaction from recent remarks by Bernard Leach, an English master potter.

Mr. Leach, lecturing at Catholic University in Washington, told the students that pottery-making is more than fashioning clay into a vessel; "it's an art and expression of the human spirit."

The words must have stirred fond memories of the old days for many who have sat at the potter's wheel. In the assembly-line technique required in the competitive market of today, the role played by the pioneer potters too often is forgotten.

Jobs For Graduates

By Frank Tripp

The biggest crop of college graduates of all time this June will lunge into a cruel world, ready to take over the presidency of General Motors. The worry is will they land where the economy needs them.

The crop has been growing ever since the little red schoolhouse ceased to be the highest institution of learning for nine tenths of the American people. It started when every man who had no college education decided that his children should have one, come hell or high water.

The joker in this picture is bound up in the question, "what is an education?"—plus the inability of even the most highly educated to answer it for anyone but himself.

TAKE THE case of Mike Gorman and his boy. Mike had a steady though inconspicuous job at the gas works. There were a great many things that Mike and his wife would have enjoyed owning.

For instance Mrs. Gorman would have enjoyed an electric washing machine in place of the old-fashioned backbreaking hand model in which she did her own and six other family washings. Mike wasn't coveting a Cadillac but if he could have afforded a bicycle he wouldn't have had to walk to work.

The reason for it all was that Mike and his good wife had a boy, Tommy, who was uncommonly bright in school. Added to that, Tommy was a handsome brute, was an athlete and popular.

Well, anyway, the Gormans decided that the best in the world was none too good for Tommy. They did what most parents do — sacrificed all for him.

Up to this point in Tommy's story, the Gormans will have the sympathy and approval of the commonwealth. From this point on there are two schools of thought — and statistics fail to prove just where the useful effect of higher education ends and bad effect begins.

WHEN TOMMY finished high school he had two or three chances to take promising jobs with substantial concerns. Tommy wanted to go work. He was a sound and good boy; he saw the plight of his parents and felt it his duty to aid them: more than that, to become immediately productive was his desire. He didn't want to go to college.

But Mike Gorman was a stubborn Irishman and he dominated Tommy. He drove him to college.

Tommy came out. He didn't cum laude—he just come. By this time Mike and the missus had a different Tommy on their hands. The enthusiasm for work which Tommy took to college with him had given way to a notion that somewhere out in the world was a bonanza that was just waiting for him to get through school. Tommy was up in the clouds.

Mike tried to find out what Tommy got out of college, but the poor kid couldn't tell him because he wasn't concretely sure himself. Mike couldn't comprehend what prestige meant. He did know what opportunity meant. So when fall came and Tommy's "opportunity" hadn't turned up yet the old man boldly suggested that he forget his schoolin' and look for a job.

THAT WAS when Tommy went back to see the people who wanted to hire him when he got through high school. One of his high school pals was assistant manager by now.

Well, yes, maybe they could make a place for him. Things were changed, but they thought it might be arranged. They mentioned the wages.

"Oh, I wouldn't think of going to work for that," said Tommy. "Isn't a degree worth anything?"

"Not around here," they told him. "You'll have to go where they hire degrees. We only hire hustlers, then help 'em up the ladder."

Thus it went on till Tommy finally gave up trying to sell this college education and took a crack at a gasoline station. He never hung his diploma in it but he did get to own it; did right well, and bought his mom a washing machine.

The economists theorists and worriers face thousands of misplaced graduates as a perplexing problem. Maybe it would help if they drop a bug in the lads' ears that they start to work for what they're worth at jobs that are waiting to be done — and try to make the education click later.

The Mountain Starts To Labor

CIA Was Created To Match Red Net

By Jay G. Hayden

President Eisenhower uttered a remarkably prophetic sentence when, laying the cornerstone a few months ago for a new Central Intelligence Agency, designed to cost 46 million dollars and embrace 140 acres, he said:

"Success of this agency cannot be advertised, failure cannot be explained."

Definitely it was a "failure" when the pilot of a U.S. airplane parachuted into Soviet hands, carrying with him seemingly an unparalleled category of espionage appurtenances — a dagger, soundless revolver, maps, everything Russian, a wide assortment of foreign currencies, etc.

The pilot also carried a suicide kit, designed to remove himself from the scene if there was indication that he might be caught "red handed," but, said Mr. Khrushchev in describing the incident to his Parliament, the reason the "kit" was not used may be that "everything alive wants to live."

To old hands in Washington the remarkable effect of this event is its smoking into the open of what has been called the cold war, but should better have been called the first great matching of international spies.

Until 1946, shortly after the end of World War II, the U.S. never had a peacetime international spy system worth mentioning. That concept began with transfer by President Truman of all that remained of the World War II office of Strategic Services to an old personal friend, retired Rear Adm. Sidney W. Souers.

IN JUNE, 1946, there was newly set up the "National Intelligence Authority," designed to include all services, military and civilian, having to do with international espionage.

The first head of that agency was Lieut. Gen. Hoyt Vandenberg, head of the tactical air force in the conquest of Germany and hephew of the senator from Michigan.

Gen. Vandenberg, soon after the latter appointment, detailed his mission to this writer. It was to penetrate the all but total blackout of information from behind what Sir Winston Churchlil a short time before had dubbed "The Iron Curtain."

Through all previous years the U. S. government had scorned peacetime spies, on the ground that it could get all the information it needed without them.

But in 1946 it suddenly was confronted with the refusal by the Soviet government under Josef Stalin to either exchange intelligence or to permit even a remotely free look at what was going on in either Russia or its Communist satellites. Meanwhile Russia was spying on us both here at home and in all of our associations abroad.

So, as Gen. Vandenberg explained, the United States for the first time was compelled to resort to secret quest for information.

There were two ways to go about the objective, he said.

One was the Russian method, which attempted to spy on everybody, including even its supposed Communist satellites and the other was to follow the British, who had the most efficient spy system in the world but applied it only where they had a special reason for spying.

GEN. VANDENBERG said he favored the latter selective system and that quite obviously has been the U.S. Pattern ever since.

In 1947 the National Intelligence Authority was renamed Central Intelligence Agency, with Gen. Walter Bedell Smith, Mr. Eisenhower's wartime chief of staff, one of its first chiefs and Allen Dulles, brother of the late secretary of state, its present and even more formative executive.

Over the years CIA has grown enormously. Nobody knows how much it costs but certainly the annual figure is in the neighborhood at least of 500 million dollars. But as officially listed its staff consists of just two men: Mr. Dulles, director and Gen. C. P. Cabell, deputy director.

Beyond those two nobody working for the organization so acknowledges. Each of them professes some employment wholly unrelated to the federal government.

There are two points of wonderment concerning the present development:

First, that CIA has operated so long without a single one of its spies in Russia being squarely caught.

Second, that the U2 type of planes, built exclusively to discover Russian secrets, have operated for four years or more with no one of them heretofore shot down or otherwise being tabbed with failure.

Cost Of Medical Care

By Raymond Moley

With only weeks left of this session of Congress, there is small chance of any legislation for the medical needs of the elderly being passed and approved.

If Congress passes the jerry-built plan introduced by Kennedy, Humphrey and Symington, and by McNamara, who faces a hard campaign for re-election to the Senate, the President is certain to veto it. And Congress certainly will not pass the administration measure.

The need for something is real and it might be just as well to have to go over to the new Congress, when there will be less confusion and less political competition for votes.

Meanwhile, it is very important that both the President and Congress devise some orderly way to explore the subject and bring in some vital facts.

Obviously, the administration's plan is the result of compromise and hasty improvisation. For according to reports, Secretary Flemming wanted a different sort of bill and so did his more conservative brethren.

Any television viewer who saw and heard Sen. McNamara—whose subcommittee has traveled far and wide gathering information on the problems of the aged—expound his conclusions must have been shocked at his naivete.

HE KEPT REPEATING that what his bill and the Forand bill seek is "prepaid" health insurance.

The political purpose of this claim is to reassure those millions under 65 that the money taken in additional social security taxes is buying them something in the future, as well as providing for people who are now over 65.

This idea of "prepayment" for security in old age was a major argument when the Social Security Act was passed in 1935 and which went into effect in 1937.

But consider what those who were taxed then got in "prepayment." The dollars they then put into their so-called equity in the trust fund are now worth 52 cents.

I wish that the "Mr. 42" of 1937 might talk to the man who is "Mr. 42" of today. He would tell him of the bitter disappointment he suffered as he saw inflation eat away the value of his savings as well as his equity in social security.

What assurance could the man of 42 now have that his promise of "prepaid" health insurance would not prove to be another illusion, especially since the Forand bill and other spending proposals of the "liberals" would certainly keep the cycle of inflation moving?

There are other unanswered questions. Why not consider several forms of tax deductions, which so far as I have seen are ignored in all bills on medical care before Congress?

HOW ABOUT a tax dedcution for children who want to buy insurance for their aged parents or contribute to the cost of the care themselves? This goes to the heart of a moral obligation as old as the human race.

Also, a tax deduction for physicians who provide medical aid without compensation? This has been a moral obligation for the medical profession since Hippocrates.

A more liberal tax break for employers who set up programs for their employes and ex-employes?

A tax deduction is always to be preferred to direct outlays by the federal government. For it emphasizes self-help and also less enlargement of the federal bureaucracy.

Moreover, the estimated costs of all plans now before Congress are completely without reliability. The British National Health Service has cost vastly more than the estimates.

No one can ever calculate what a free service will cost, because so many will take advantage of it who are not in need.

It is reliably calculated by experts who are independent that the proposed $1,200,000,000 should be at least 2½ billion the first year and that the cost would rapidly mount after that. For when the service is free, uncounted thousands will immediately drop the insurance they are now carrying.

What are needed are more facts, rather than the oratory of a campaign year.

Down Through The Years

An ABC On Berlin

By James Marlow

Here's Story Behind Key Summit Issue

WASHINGTON

This is an ABC on one of the sorest issues at today's summit meeting in Paris: the Soviet Union's demand that the Allies get their troops out of West Berlin. The Allies have refused.

The 2,200,000 West Berliners consider themselves part of the pro-Western West German Republic even though their city is 110 miles inside Communist East Germany.

Just because it is, supplies for the city from the West have to move by road, rail, water and air over Communist territory. Up until now, with one major exception, the Soviets have let the supplies through, under a wartime agreement.

The exception was the year-long blockade started by Stalin in 1948. The Allies airlifted supplies into Berlin until he gave up.

Now Premier Nikita Khrushchev has indicated the supplies may be shut off again unless Allied troops are withdrawn from the city.

If the Allies try to smash their way through a new blockade, the result may be war. But if the Allies withdraw, they will suffer a gigantic moral and political defeat.

The U.S.-British-French troops —only 10,000 of them—are not actually a fighting force, deep as they are in Communist territory. They are a symbol but an important one.

They represent Western determination not to abandon the West Berliners to the Soviets. If the troops were withdrawn, the surrounded West Berliners would be absorbed fast by Communist East Germany.

How did the troops get there? What right do they have to be there?

The roots go away back to World War II when the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain and, later, France agreed to control Germany after its surrender until time for a peace treaty with a new Germany.

They did by dividing Germany into four zones, with each of the wartime partners occupying one zone. The same arrangement was made for Berlin, the capital city.

The Soviet zone of Germany naturally had to be in the east, which was closest to the Soviet Union. Berlin, being in the eastern part, was in the Soviet zone.

The wartime partnership did not last. The cold war began.

Hope of agreement with Stalin on a single new German government disappeared. The Allies set up a West German republic in their three zones of Germany and in time voluntarily ended their occupation.

But they kept their troops in Berlin. This, they said, they had a right to do under the wartime agreement.

In turn the Soviets, while gripping their East Berlin zone tight, set up in their zone of Germany a new Communist East German government. The West, including West Germany, considers this Communist regime a Soviet puppet, has never recognized it.

The West and the Soviet Union still talk of creating a new, single government for all Germany. They are miles apart on how.

The West, as a preliminary to unification, says West and East Germans must be permitted free elections. The West Germans, 53½ million of them, outnumber the 18 million East Germans almost three to one. There is no reason to doubt the East Germans, if allowed, would repudiate communism anyway.

Khrushchev wants it another way—let the officials of the East and West German governments get together and work out unification. Since the West and the West Germans refuse to consider these East German Communists as anything but puppets, the answer is no.

But this Allied outpost in the heart of the Communist world—West Berlin — has became "cancerous" to Khrushchev. He told the West to get their troops out or he would sign a separate peace treaty with the East German government.

As of now the Soviets themselves control the Western supply routes to Berlin. Khrushchev suggested these might be turned over to the East Germans to do as they please. They would, of course do only what Khrushchev pleased.

If they shut off the supply routes in a new blockade, the West will have to act or cave in.

Those Pesky Students

The trouble is that students in backward countries take themselves seriously. That's the trouble with students in backward parts of advanced countries, too—like students in the southern United States who have learned, how to read the Constitution, where it says all citizens here are first class.

These kids get ideas about what would be possible if things they have been told are impossible were examined more closely and discarded. This has been the rub in studentship for thousands of years —ideas.

I read in your paper about the multi - million - dollar contract awarded the Japanese government over an Ohio company.

I can't see why you hid it on Page 22 instead of putting it on Page One in big headlines. I am sure that's the kind of news the people in this district would be most interested in.

I hope the people will turn to Page 22 in the May 12 issue and read the story. It will really be worth your while. I wonder where all the newspaper editors, politicians, Chambers of Commerce and the NAM were at when Rep. Robert W. Levering (D of Ohio) was battling the law firm of former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey trying to block the Army from giving American jobs to the Japanese. Mr. Dewey said the future relations of the two countries could hinge on the case.

Does he forget that a few years ago these same Japanese tried to blast this country off the face of the earth? That thousands of our men died to keep them from doing it? That our tax money rebuilt this country so they could compete against us?

We American potters have fought this thing for years. We have seen the biggest end of our potteries shut down, gone out of business, because we can't compete with their cheap labor.

Let's all join together and put a stop to this misjustice to the American worker. The government has given billons of your dollars to foreign countries. Now they're giving away your jobs. Let's all be American, buy American, buy union.

Nathan Hale Was A Yale Man

Whatever other effects, either good or bad, come out of the moment of truth following U.S. admission that the Soviet Union really did catch an American air-borne spy, millions of Americans now are newly acquainted with one of their most important federal agencies.

There still is no way to find out what it spends. It might be as much as a billion; it might be as little as 100 million. The total of its employes is not known. There may be as many as 30,000, or as few as 3,000.

Nothing is known about their names, salaries, titles and duties. They can be hired and fired without observing regulations that cover other government employes. Some are cloak-and-dagger operators. Some are experts in economics and geography. Some are picked for special talents that make them peculiarly useful. All are chosen because they have some quality that presumably will help them make their employer the equivalent in due time of the British intelligence organization, the most adroit and thorough of all. But their mysterious agency — referred to in Washington as The Agency — presumably is justifying its cost and unique privileges. Its short comings are being overcome with experience.

It has existed since 1947. Officially, its title is Central Intelligence Agency. Its director is Allen W. Dulles, brother of the late John Foster Dulles. He is appointed by the President, subject to confirmation by the U.S. Senate. The CIA operates under the National Security Council.

NEVER BEFORE have so many Americans known so little about so many of their own employes. In the very nature of its operations, its activities are bound to backfire occasionally, and when they do there always will be the accusation that the blooper was badly timed.

All bloopers are badly timed. There are no good bloopers.

In the modern spy business, the main thing is not to commit any. They don't build statues any more to Nathan Hales who get caught. They write their names off the list and, if necessary, say they never heard of them. Never is it admitted that anyone in any official capacity ever gave the order that caused a spy to be where he was when he was caught.

Today, if a Nathan Hale did anything so inept as to enter enemy lines and get nabbed in as obvious a disguise as a Dutch school teacher, the CIA — if it had been a party to the scheme — probably would deny that it ever had hired a Yale man in the first place and least of all Nathan Hale in the second place.

A FIRST-RATE spy organization in a nation of popular sovereignty is a first-rate problem. For every hour of worry that has been wasted on J. Edgar Hoover's Federal Bureau of Investigation, two hours have been put in to good advantage on CIA, because no one really knows how to keep it from turning into a kind of invisible tail that might wag a visibly embarrassed dog.

Something like this may have happened in the last few days, but with spies no one can be sure. The game they play is not for fun and it is for keeps. And anyone who assumes that suddenly there is nothing but the truth being told because previously there had been nothing but lies are underestimating the game and the players — ours and the Russians, too. The boys may just be feeling each other out in a search for something more important. That's part of the game, too.

The Burden Of Government

Statistics from Columbus show each resident of Columbiana County is currently shouldering a debt of some $1,800 toward the cost of operating and preserving the republic—from road improvements to nuclear bomb storage.

Local government debt in the county amounted to $144 per person as of Dec. 31, a considerable jump over the $40.09 each individual owed 10 years ago.

Besides the county debt, the citizen also owes $54 for the state of Ohio's obligations and $1,583 for the national debt.

The revelation of this obligation, added to the current payment of local, state and federal taxes, stimulates some deep thinking upon the relationship of the citizen to his government.

Should government cost this much? Must the cost ever spiral? When will it stop?

The cost is a reflection of our needs and demands — from the village and townships to Washington and the Summit conference.

We want good roads, more services, additional benefits and other governmental functions not available 10 years ago. We must have expanded facilities to meet the growing population. We have to maintain a costly national defense program in the face of the Communist threat.

Furthermore, the cost of government has become inflated, just as our paychecks have become inflated.

The average citizen is aware of the cause for the increase in the per capita debt. He accepts it, but cannot help but feel that a sizable margin of the debt and cost of government could be trimmed with a little more efficient planning to eliminate waste and duplication and a little less politics by which fund are dispersed with the wrong objectives.

Sensible–And Fun

Through the efforts of a lot of hard-working people, post-prom parties have become an established part of the annual dances held by district high schools.

The parties are a sensible approach to the questions of "Where to go?" and "What to do?" after the ball is over. And, along with being sensible, they're a lot fun. The entertainment is most cases is topnotch and the food good. Such affairs include all the comforts and pleasures of going out of town without the hazards.

To the Jaycees and all the others responsible — keep up the good work.

More Than Clay

District potters who take such a personal pride in their work would have gotten a lot of satisfaction from recent remarks by Bernard Leach, an English master potter.

Mr. Leach, lecturing at Catholic University in Washington, told the students that pottery-making is more than fashioning clay into a vessel; "it's an art and expression of the human spirit."

The words must have stirred fond memories of the old days for many who have sat at the potter's wheel. In the assembly-line technique required in the competitive market of today, the role played by the pioneer potters too often is forgotten.

Jobs For Graduates

By Frank Tripp

The biggest crop of college graduates of all time this June will lunge into a cruel world, ready to take over the presidency of General Motors. The worry is will they land where the economy needs them.

The crop has been growing ever since the little red schoolhouse ceased to be the highest institution of learning for nine tenths of the American people. It started when every man who had no college education decided that his children should have one, come hell or high water.

The joker in this picture is bound up in the question, "what is an education?"—plus the inability of even the most highly educated to answer it for anyone but himself.

TAKE THE case of Mike Gorman and his boy. Mike had a steady though inconspicuous job at the gas works. There were a great many things that Mike and his wife would have enjoyed owning.

For instance Mrs. Gorman would have enjoyed an electric washing machine in place of the old-fashioned backbreaking hand model in which she did her own and six other family washings. Mike wasn't coveting a Cadillac but if he could have afforded a bicycle he wouldn't have had to walk to work.

The reason for it all was that Mike and his good wife had a boy, Tommy, who was uncommonly bright in school. Added to that, Tommy was a handsome brute, was an athlete and popular.

Well, anyway, the Gormans decided that the best in the world was none too good for Tommy. They did what most parents do — sacrificed all for him.

Up to this point in Tommy's story, the Gormans will have the sympathy and approval of the commonwealth. From this point on there are two schools of thought — and statistics fail to prove just where the useful effect of higher education ends and bad effect begins.

WHEN TOMMY finished high school he had two or three chances to take promising jobs with substantial concerns. Tommy wanted to go work. He was a sound and good boy; he saw the plight of his parents and felt it his duty to aid them: more than that, to become immediately productive was his desire. He didn't want to go to college.

But Mike Gorman was a stubborn Irishman and he dominated Tommy. He drove him to college.

Tommy came out. He didn't cum laude—he just come. By this time Mike and the missus had a different Tommy on their hands. The enthusiasm for work which Tommy took to college with him had given way to a notion that somewhere out in the world was a bonanza that was just waiting for him to get through school. Tommy was up in the clouds.

Mike tried to find out what Tommy got out of college, but the poor kid couldn't tell him because he wasn't concretely sure himself. Mike couldn't comprehend what prestige meant. He did know what opportunity meant. So when fall came and Tommy's "opportunity" hadn't turned up yet the old man boldly suggested that he forget his schoolin' and look for a job.

THAT WAS when Tommy went back to see the people who wanted to hire him when he got through high school. One of his high school pals was assistant manager by now.

Well, yes, maybe they could make a place for him. Things were changed, but they thought it might be arranged. They mentioned the wages.

"Oh, I wouldn't think of going to work for that," said Tommy. "Isn't a degree worth anything?"

"Not around here," they told him. "You'll have to go where they hire degrees. We only hire hustlers, then help 'em up the ladder."

Thus it went on till Tommy finally gave up trying to sell this college education and took a crack at a gasoline station. He never hung his diploma in it but he did get to own it; did right well, and bought his mom a washing machine.

The economists theorists and worriers face thousands of misplaced graduates as a perplexing problem. Maybe it would help if they drop a bug in the lads' ears that they start to work for what they're worth at jobs that are waiting to be done — and try to make the education click later.

The Mountain Starts To Labor

CIA Was Created To Match Red Net

By Jay G. Hayden

President Eisenhower uttered a remarkably prophetic sentence when, laying the cornerstone a few months ago for a new Central Intelligence Agency, designed to cost 46 million dollars and embrace 140 acres, he said:

"Success of this agency cannot be advertised, failure cannot be explained."

Definitely it was a "failure" when the pilot of a U.S. airplane parachuted into Soviet hands, carrying with him seemingly an unparalleled category of espionage appurtenances — a dagger, soundless revolver, maps, everything Russian, a wide assortment of foreign currencies, etc.

The pilot also carried a suicide kit, designed to remove himself from the scene if there was indication that he might be caught "red handed," but, said Mr. Khrushchev in describing the incident to his Parliament, the reason the "kit" was not used may be that "everything alive wants to live."

To old hands in Washington the remarkable effect of this event is its smoking into the open of what has been called the cold war, but should better have been called the first great matching of international spies.

Until 1946, shortly after the end of World War II, the U.S. never had a peacetime international spy system worth mentioning. That concept began with transfer by President Truman of all that remained of the World War II office of Strategic Services to an old personal friend, retired Rear Adm. Sidney W. Souers.

IN JUNE, 1946, there was newly set up the "National Intelligence Authority," designed to include all services, military and civilian, having to do with international espionage.

The first head of that agency was Lieut. Gen. Hoyt Vandenberg, head of the tactical air force in the conquest of Germany and hephew of the senator from Michigan.

Gen. Vandenberg, soon after the latter appointment, detailed his mission to this writer. It was to penetrate the all but total blackout of information from behind what Sir Winston Churchlil a short time before had dubbed "The Iron Curtain."

Through all previous years the U. S. government had scorned peacetime spies, on the ground that it could get all the information it needed without them.

But in 1946 it suddenly was confronted with the refusal by the Soviet government under Josef Stalin to either exchange intelligence or to permit even a remotely free look at what was going on in either Russia or its Communist satellites. Meanwhile Russia was spying on us both here at home and in all of our associations abroad.

So, as Gen. Vandenberg explained, the United States for the first time was compelled to resort to secret quest for information.

There were two ways to go about the objective, he said.

One was the Russian method, which attempted to spy on everybody, including even its supposed Communist satellites and the other was to follow the British, who had the most efficient spy system in the world but applied it only where they had a special reason for spying.

GEN. VANDENBERG said he favored the latter selective system and that quite obviously has been the U.S. Pattern ever since.

In 1947 the National Intelligence Authority was renamed Central Intelligence Agency, with Gen. Walter Bedell Smith, Mr. Eisenhower's wartine chief of staff, one of its first chiefs and Allen Dulles, brother of the late secretary of state, its present and even more formative executive.

Over the years CIA has grown enormously. Nobody knows how much it costs but certainly the annual figure is in the neighborhood at least of 500 million dollars. But as officially listed its staff consists of just two men: Mr. Dulles, director and Gen. C. P. Cabell, deputy director.

Beyond those two nobody working for the organization so acknowledges. Each of them professes some employment wholly unrelated to the federal government.

There are two points of wonderment concerning the present development:

First, that CIA has operated so long without a single one of its spies in Russia being squarely caught.

Second, that the U2 type of planes, built exclusively to discover Russian secrets, have operated for four years or more with no one of them heretofore shot down or otherwise being tabbed with failure.

Cost Of Medical Care

By Raymond Moley

With only weeks left of this session of Congress, there is small chance of any legislation for the medical needs of the elderly being passed and approved.

If Congress passes the jerry-built plan introduced by Kennedy, Humphrey and Symington, and by McNamara, who faces a hard campaign for re-election to the Senate, the President is certain to veto it. And Congress certainly will not pass the administration measure.

The need for something is real and it might be just as well to have to go over to the new Congress, when there will be less confusion and less political competition for votes.

Meanwhile, it is very important that both the President and Congress devise some orderly way to explore the subject and bring in some vital facts.

Obviously, the administration's plan is the result of compromise and hasty improvisation. For according to reports, Secretary Flemming wanted a different sort of bill and so did his more conservative brethren.

Any television viewer who saw and heard Sen. McNamara—whose subcommittee has traveled far and wide gathering information on the problems of the aged—expound his conclusions must have been shocked at his naivete.

HE KEPT REPEATING that what his bill and the Forand bill seek is "prepaid" health insurance.

The political purpose of this claim is to reassure those millions under 65 that the money taken in additional social security taxes is buying them something in the future, as well as providing for people who are now over 65.

This idea of "prepayment" for security in old age was a major argument when the Social Security Act was passed in 1935 and which went into effect in 1937.

But consider what those who were taxed then got in "prepayment." The dollars they then put into their so-called equity in the trust fund are now worth 52 cents.

I wish that the "Mr. 42" of 1937 might talk to the man who is "Mr. 42" of today. He would tell him of the bitter disappointment he suffered as he saw inflation eat away the value of his savings as well as his equity in social security.

What assurance could the man of 42 now have that his promise of "prepaid" health insurance would not prove to be another illusion, especially since the Forand bill and other spending proposals of the "liberals" would certainly keep the cycle of inflation moving?

There are other unanswered questions. Why not consider several forms of tax deductions, which so far as I have seen are ignored in all bills on medical care before Congress?

HOW ABOUT a tax dedcution for children who want to buy insurance for their aged parents or contribute to the cost of the care themselves? This goes to the heart of a moral obligation as old as the human race.

Also, a tax deduction for physicians who provide medical aid without compensation? This has been a moral obligation for the medical profession since Hippocrates.

A more liberal tax break for employers who set up programs for their employes and ex-employes?

A tax deduction is always to be preferred to direct outlays by the federal government. For it emphasizes self-help and also less enlargement of the federal bureaucracy.

Moreover, the estimated costs of all plans now before Congress are completely without reliability. The British National Health Service has cost vastly more than the estimates.

No one can ever calculate what a free service will cost, because so many will take advantage of it who are not in need.

It is reliably calculated by experts who are independent that the proposed $1,200,000,000 should be at least 2½ billion the first year and that the cost would rapidly mount after that. For when the service is free, uncounted thousands will immediately drop the insurance they are now carrying.

What are needed are more facts, rather than the oratory of a campaign year.

Down Through The Years

I wonder where all the newspaper editors, politicians, Chambers of Commerce and the NAM were at when Rep. Robert W. Levering (D of Ohio) was battling the law firm of former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey trying to block the Army from giving American jobs to the Japanese. Mr. Dewey said the future relations of the two countries could hinge on the case.

Does he forget that a few years ago these same Japanese tried to blast this country off the face of the earth? That thousands of our men died to keep them from doing it? That our tax money rebuilt this country so they could compete against us?

We American potters have fought this thing for years. We have seen the biggest end of our potteries shut down, gone out of business, because we can't compete with their cheap labor.

Let's all join together and put a stop to this misjustice to the American worker. The government has given billons of your dollars to foreign countries. Now they're giving away your jobs. Let's all be American, buy American, buy union.

School Group Hears Doctor

Dr. Janis Lauva, Wellsville physician, spoke on the school system in Europe Thursday night when the Hillcrest Fairview Parent Teacher Association held its last meeting of the season.

He compared education in Latvia, his homeland, with that in the United States.

Mrs. Eleanor Waite, past president, installed the following officers: Wayne Hamilton, president; Russell Howell, vice president; Mrs. Jean Cupp, secretary, and Mrs. Loretta Hawksworth, treasurer.

The Rev. Arden Beck, pastor of the Wellsville First Methodist Church, led devotions, using I Corinthians 13 and giving a brief talk on "Love."

Mrs. Betty Glass, retiring president, conducted business. Following a report from Mrs. Lauva that $180.48 remained in the treasury, the group voted to complete payments on a movie projector. It decided to have the organizations meetings listed on the Central Methodist Church activity calendar.

The attendance banner was won by the second grade. Charles Glass, school board member, informed the members that the eighth grade will attend the Daw Junior High School in Wellsville beginning in the fall.

Refreshments were served by the first and second grade homeroom mothers under the direction of Mrs. Dorothy Payne, Mrs. Betty Siers, Mrs. Cupp and Mrs. Eileen Jones. Meetings will resume in the fall.

Health Board To Meet

LISBON — Routine business is slated at a meeting of the Columbiana County Health Board tonight at 8, Dr. C. S. Palmer, health commissioner, said.

NOW People 65 or over can have Blue Shield® surgical-medical cost protection

For the first time Blue Shield offers you surgical-medical benefits like groups can secure... if you enroll by Sunday, May 29, 1960

It's really true! The same Blue Shield (Ohio Medical Indemnity) that provides such complete surgical and medical benefits to payroll deduction groups now offers these benefits to any individual Ohio resident age 65 or over!

Just think of it . . .

- There's no physical examination
- You make no health statement
- There's no exclusion because of present or past health problems
- There are no waiting periods for pre-existing conditions
- You need not be employed

Regardless of present health or work status, any Ohio resident 65 or over can enroll. In fact, this new program is offered especially to meet the needs of individual Ohio residents 65 and over who aren't now protected by Blue Shield benefits through group enrollment in the past. Each person must enroll individually . . . even husband and wife must each apply and be individually protected. This plan is actively recommended by the OHIO STATE MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, the doctors' professional organization.

BUT YOU MUST ACT BY SUNDAY, MAY 29

This special plan is available only to Ohio residents who apply between Monday, May 16 and Sunday, May 29, 1960. Every application must be postmarked before midnight Sunday, May 29. If you're 65 or over . . . or have a relative or friend of this age . . . act now. Use the coupon below . . . mail it by May 29, because applications cannot be accepted if postmarked after midnight that date. This is the only way you can enroll . . . by mail.

YOUR PHYSICIAN CAN REASSURE YOU

The Blue Shield plan is actively recommended by the Ohio State Medical Association, and this 65-and-Over Plan has been developed with the Association's encouragement. Ask your physician about Blue Shield and this Plan. Or check with the Blue Cross hospital care plan that serves your area.

JUST LOOK AT ALL THE BENEFITS

Blue Shield provides payments toward the cost of Surgery, in-hospital Medical Care, Anesthesia, Radiotherapy . . . according to the schedule of indemnities listed in the Special Preferred Contract (M-10-F) you will receive. Blue Shield helps you pay your surgeon's and physician's bills, relieves this anxiety when sickness strikes. And Blue Shield protects you when you travel outside of Ohio, too.

ONLY $1.45 A MONTH

Just $1.45 each month brings you all these benefits. It's a small price to pay for such peace of mind.

TALK IT OVER WITH YOUR FAMILY

Ask your son or daughter, niece or nephew . . . see if they don't agree that this Plan is a very wise way for you to invest $1.45 each month (only $17.40 per year) to help preserve your independence.

BLUE SHIELD BENEFITS

Payments will be made for Surgery, in-hospital Medical Care, Anesthesia, Radiotherapy . . . according to the schedule of indemnities listed in the Special Preferred Contract (M-10-F) you will receive. These are the same as those offered to groups. The benefits are available when the services are performed by a duly licensed physician or surgeon as defined in the contract.

Surgery
Almost all types of surgical procedures performed anywhere — in the hospital, home or physician's office — with payments from $10 to $300 according to schedule of indemnities.

Medical Treatment
When the member is a bed-patient in a hospital for more than 18 consecutive hours, for non-surgical illness. Payments for each hospital confinement, $10 for the first day and $5 for each of the next three days, and $4 a day thereafter. Maximum of 70 days available per contract year.

Fractures and Dislocations
Reduction (setting) performed anywhere.

Emergency Care
Emergency stitching of wounds within 24 hours after the accident.

Radiotherapy
Treatment of neoplasms (abnormal growths such as cancer, tumors, etc.) by means of X-ray or radium, regardless of where the treatment is performed.

Burns and Skin Grafting
For treatment regardless of where the service is rendered.

Anesthesia Administration
For services rendered in connection with surgical procedures covered by the contract, payments from $10 to $40 according to schedule of indemnities, when: (1) administered by a physician other than the operating surgeon, in or out of the hospital, or (2) administered in a hospital by a dentist or nurse who is not an employee of the hospital. No payments will be provided for local anesthesia.

SERVICES NOT COVERED

When both surgical and medical services, or both medical and radiotherapy services, are rendered during the same hospital confinement, payment shall be made for the one service which provides the greater payment, but not for both. This contract does not provide payment for any of the following: services rendered in a V.A. hospital; workmen's compensation cases; services furnished or payable by a governmental agency; services for cosmetic or beautifying purposes; dental services. No payment is provided for hospital bills or for services not described herein.

Your application must be postmarked by midnight Sunday, May 29, 1960. MAIL THIS APPLICATION TODAY

Public Event At Lisbon

Conference On Aging Set May 24 By County Group

A public conference on aging will be held May 24 at the American Legion home at Lisbon by the Columbiana County planning committee of the Governor's Committee, Mrs. J. Donald Thompson of East Liverpool, chairman, announced today.

Following a noon luncheon, a panel discussion will be held on the problems of older citizens with Paul H. Blair, assistant superintendent of city schools, as moderator.

The panel will include Miss Katherine Schweiker, nursing home consultant for the Ohio Department of Health; Ralph Phillis, superintendent of the County Home; Robert Bycroft, county welfare director; Mary Catherine Donahue of the Catholic Charities Bureau of Salem; Mrs. J. Raymond Stiver, Senior Citizens advisor at Salem, and Robert Stanbaugh of the Ohio Aid for the Aged Department.

Mrs. Thompson emphasized the meeting will be public, and questions from the audience will follow the panel presentation.

Invitations are being sent to churches, fraternal, civic, welfare and social organizations and luncheon reservations should be made by Satruday with any of the planning committee members.

The committee includes Miss Frances Jones, librarian at the Carnegie Library; Miss Nell Robinson, City Hospital superintendent; Cornell Monda, Lisbon psychologist; Harold Graham of Salem City Hospital, and Dr. Paul Beaver of Leetonia.

The conference is a part of the White House Conference on Aging called for January 1961 by President Dwight Eisenhower on the theme, "Aging with a Future — Every Citizen's Concern."

The problems of adequate income, housing, proper medical and nursing care and plenty of suitable recreation loom large for the over 65-group in the coming years. In the nation as a whole there were almost 10 million over 65 in 1945. It is estimated that there will be 16 million in this age group in 1970. A 19 per cent gain in this age bracket has developed in the state of Ohio in the last 10 years. Current estimates of the number of persons over 65 in Columbiana County set the figure at around 15,000.

Progress in medicine has reduced deaths in this age group by 9 per cent in the last 10 years. With greater longevity nursing care takes on increasing importance for the aged. In the state of Ohio alone it is estimated that at least 10,000 more beds are needed in nursing homes to accommodate those who cannot be cared for by families, the committee said.

Airliner Carrying 37 Lands With Blown Tire

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A Braniff International Airways plane with 32 passengers and five crew members landed safely with a blown out tire Sunday.

Pilot R. W. Shields, 55, said the tire blew as the fourengine DC6 took off for a flight to New Orleans.

Shields made five low passes over the Kansas City airport so mechanics on the ground could make sure the remaining tire on the dual wheels of the right landing gear was all right.

Then he landed the plane gently and stopped it within 2,000 feet by reversing the propellors.

Court Of Honor Set

EAST FAIRFIELD — A Court of Honor will be held for Boy Scout Troop 40 tonight at 7 at the Methodist Church. The ceremony was postponed from last weekend because of inclement weather.

East Junior High Choirs To Give Concert Tuesday

Selections by three choirs, four ensembles and soloists will feature the spring concert of the East Junior High Choirs Tuesday night at 7:30 at the school.

The program will be under the direction of Miss Burdene K. Bowman with Miss Eleanor Jane Bennett accompanist.

The Eighth Grade Choir will open with four spirituals, "Old Ark's a Moverin' ", "Ride Up In the Chariot," "There is a Balm In Gilead" and "Res' My Shoes."

The ensembles will then sing choral selections from "South Pacific," "Harbor Lights," "I'm Sittin' on Top of the World" and "Tumbling Tumbleweeds."

Miss Sheridan Ludwig will sing "You'll Never Walk Alone." She entered the solo in the District OMEA Junior High contest at Steubenville this month.

Following intermission, the Seventh Grade Choir, using a "Smile" theme, will sing "Let a Smile Be Your Umbrella," Smile, Darn You, Smile" and "When You're Smiling." Soloists for the choir are Nancy Wilkinson, Darlene Baumgardner, Gloria Johnson, Sandy Hancock, Kathy Robbins and Paula Whealdon. Carla Pearson and Vickie Myers will be the dancers.

After Frances Cornman plays a piano solo, "Malaguena," the Ninth Grade Choir will close the program with four selections, "Hello, Young Lovers," "So In Love," "Younger Than Springtime" and "Will You Remember." Soloist with the ninth grade choir is Evajane Cannon.

Decapitated Body Of Woman Found In Cleveland Garage

CLEVELAND (AP) — Homicide detectives are probing the slaying of a 24-year-old woman whose decapitated, mutilated body was found among debris in a garage behind a vacant house.

Police identified the woman early today as Ethel Sanders of Cleveland.

A part - time painter, J. D. Woods, 43, found the partly clothed body Sunday in the brick garage behind an empty house on E. 36th St., where he had been working.

Police said a large knife apparently was used to sever the head from the body, and some other parts of her body also were cut away.

The woman was colored and about 30 years old, according to Coroner Samuel R. Gerber. He said she had been dead about 12 hours.

"I've never seen anything like this since the torso murders," said Dr. Gerber, who worked on those cases in the 1930s. He said, however, there was a big difference. "This case was not at all expertly done, as were the old torso slayings," he said.

The person responsible for those slayings, called "the Mad Butcher of Kingsbury Run" because many of the bodies were left in Kingsbury Run, never was caught.

Capt. David E. Kerr, head of the homicide squad, said he had no idea how the woman was killed.

"There's no doubt the woman was killed somewhere else and brought to the garage," he said. There was no blood at the scene.

Gerber said he thought the woman was already dead when she was decapitated. Her head was not found.

Public Event At Lisbon

Conference On Aging Set May 24 By County Group

A public conference on aging will be held May 24 at the American Legion home at Lisbon by the Columbiana County planning committee of the Governor's Committee, Mrs. J. Donald Thompson of East Liverpool, chairman, announced today.

Following a noon luncheon, a panel discussion will be held on the problems of older citizens with Paul H. Blair, assistant superintendent of city schools, as moderator.

The panel will include Miss Katherine Schweiker, nursing home consultant for the Ohio Department of Health; Ralph Phillis, superintendent of the County Home; Robert Bycroft, county welfare director; Mary Catherine Donahue of the Catholic Charities Bureau of Salem; Mrs. J. Raymond Stiver, Senior Citizens advisor at Salem, and Robert Stanbaugh of the Ohio Aid for the Aged Department.

Mrs. Thompson emphasized the meeting will be public, and questions from the audience will follow the panel presentation.

Invitations are being sent to churches, fraternal, civic, welfare and social organizations and luncheon reservations should be made by Satruday with any of the planning committee members.

The committee includes Miss Frances Jones, librarian at the Carnegie Library; Miss Nell Robinson, City Hospital superintendent; Cornell Monda, Lisbon psychologist; Harold Graham of Salem City Hospital, and Dr. Paul Beaver of Leetonia.

The conference is a part of the White House Conference on Aging called for January 1961 by President Dwight Eisenhower on the theme, "Aging with a Future — Every Citizen's Concern."

The problems of adequate income, housing, proper medical and nursing care and plenty of suitable recreation loom large for the over 65-group in the coming years. In the nation as a whole there were almost 10 million over 65 in 1945. It is estimated that there will be 16 million in this age group in 1970. A 19 per cent gain in this age bracket has developed in the state of Ohio in the last 10 years. Current estimates of the number of persons over 65 in Columbiana County set the figure at around 15,000.

Progress in medicine has reduced deaths in this age group by 9 per cent in the last 10 years. With greater longevity nursing care takes on increasing importance for the aged. In the state of Ohio alone it is estimated that at least 10,000 more beds are needed in nursing homes to accommodate those who cannot be cared for by families, the committee said.

Airliner Carrying 37 Lands With Blown Tire

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A Braniff International Airways plane with 32 passengers and five crew members landed safely with a blown out tire Sunday.

Pilot R. W. Shields, 55, said the tire blew as the fourengine DC6 took off for a flight to New Orleans.

Shields made five low passes over the Kansas City airport so mechanics on the ground could make sure the remaining tire on the dual wheels of the right landing gear was all right.

Then he landed the plane gently and stopped it within 2,000 feet by reversing the propellors.

Court Of Honor Set

EAST FAIRFIELD — A Court of Honor will be held for Boy Scout Troop 40 tonight at 7 at the Methodist Church. The ceremony was postponed from last weekend because of inclement weather.

East Junior High Choirs To Give Concert Tuesday

Selections by three choirs, four ensembles and soloists will feature the spring concert of the East Junior High Choirs Tuesday night at 7:30 at the school.

The program will be under the direction of Miss Burdene K. Bowman with Miss Eleanor Jane Bennett accompanist.

The Eighth Grade Choir will open with four spirituals, "Old Ark's a Moverin' ", "Ride Up In the Chariot," "There is a Balm In Gilead" and "Res' My Shoes."

The ensembles will then sing choral selections from "South Pacific," "Harbor Lights," "I'm Sittin' on Top of the World" and "Tumbling Tumbleweeds."

Miss Sheridan Ludwig will sing "You'll Never Walk Alone." She entered the solo in the District OMEA Junior High contest at Steubenville this month.

Following intermission, the Seventh Grade Choir, using a "Smile" theme, will sing "Let a Smile Be Your Umbrella," Smile, Darn You, Smile" and "When You're Smiling." Soloists for the choir are Nancy Wilkinson, Darlene Baumgardner, Gloria Johnson, Sandy Hancock, Kathy Robbins and Paula Whealdon. Carla Pearson and Vickie Myers will be the dancers.

After Frances Cornman plays a piano solo, "Malaguena," the Ninth Grade Choir will close the program with four selections, "Hello, Young Lovers," "So In Love," "Younger Than Springtime" and "Will You Remember." Soloist with the ninth grade choir is Evajane Cannon.

Decapitated Body Of Woman Found In Cleveland Garage

CLEVELAND (AP) — Homicide detectives are probing the slaying of a 24-year-old woman whose decapitated, mutilated body was found among debris in a garage behind a vacant house.

Police identified the woman early today as Ethel Sanders of Cleveland.

A part - time painter, J. D. Woods, 43, found the partly clothed body Sunday in the brick garage behind an empty house on E. 36th St., where he had been working.

Police said a large knife apparently was used to sever the head from the body, and some other parts of her body also were cut away.

The woman was colored and about 30 years old, according to Coroner Samuel R. Gerber. He said she had been dead about 12 hours.

"I've never seen anything like this since the torso murders," said Dr. Gerber, who worked on those cases in the 1930s. He said, however, there was a big difference. "This case was not at all expertly done, as were the old torso slayings," he said.

The person responsible for those slayings, called "the Mad Butcher of Kingsbury Run" because many of the bodies were left in Kingsbury Run, never was caught.

Capt. David E. Kerr, head of the homicide squad, said he had no idea how the woman was killed.

"There's no doubt the woman was killed somewhere else and brought to the garage," he said. There was no blood at the scene.

Gerber said he thought the woman was already dead when she was decapitated. Her head was not found.

10 Soloists Rated 'Superior' During District Music Contest

Seven soloists from Westgate Junior High School and three from East Junior High were among students who received "superior" ratings at the Eastern District Junior High solo and ensemble contest Saturday at Steubenville High School.

The Westgate soloists included Janice Manypenny, flute; Susan Smith, piano; Joe Judge, cornet; Peggy Wright, violin; Karen Neff, violin; Lynn Nuzum, cello, and Carol Baumgarner, viola.

Soloists from East Junior High included Ted Waters, clarinet; Bob McHenry, alto horn, and Joe Blankenship, baritone sax.

Westgate soloists receiving "excellent" ratings were Neal Brinbaum and Karleen Reed, clarinet; Edward Birch, alto sax; Billie Persohn, Karen Pickall, and Roger Hicks, violin, and Richard Allison, trumpet.

Receiving excellent ratings from East Junior High were Roger Vincent and Fred Schell, trumpet, and Sheridan Ludwig, vocalist.

Three Westgate groups received "superior" ratings. They are: A string quartet comprised of Peggy Wright and Billie Lee Persohn, violin; Carol Baumgarner, viola, and Lynn Nuzum, cello; a violin quartet, Billie Lee Persohn, Patty Stull, Susan Buckely and Linda Cubberly, and a violin trio, Karen Neff, Karen Pickall and Roger Hicks.

Two groups from East Junior High received "superior" ratings. They are: Clarinet quartet, Ted Waters, Darlene Long, Nancy Coffman and Mary Ann Lemire, and saxophone quartet, Alan Boone, Jack Babb, Bill Dorsey and Joe Blankenship.

Groups receiving "excellent" ratings were: Clarinet quartet, Bonnie Lendon, Jean Johnston, Virginia Hoover and Lynn McGaffic; trumpet quartet, Allen Starkey, Merry Lou Barcus, Ronald Allison and James Smith, and trombone trio, Randy Stover, Ed Prentice and Terry Stanley.

Don Allen, supervisor of instrumental music, and his wife, Vincent Maola, band director at the East Junior High School, and several parents of the students, attended the event.

Palestine Chooses Road-E-O Winners

EAST PALESTINE — David Simpson and Carol Ann Dyke were winners of the annual Junior Chamber of Commerce and Sohio-sponsored Road-E-O held Saturday at the high school.

Simpson, son of Dr. and Mrs. A. M. Simpson of the New Waterford Rd., posted a 354 point score out of a possible 400, while Miss Dyke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Dyke, 101 South St., had a 334 score in the girls division.

Jack Sutherin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Sutherin of the New Waterford Rd., was second with 344 points, and Patricia Ann Sankovich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Sankovich of W. Martin St., was second in the girls' division.

About 24 students were in the competition, for which Gary Doran and Dale Beight of the Jaycees were co-chairmen. The winners will participate in the state Road-E-O June 4 at Warren.

Council To Meet

EAST PALESTINE — Council will meet tonight at 7:30. Discussion may be held on Daylight Savings Time, which is slated to end in September under the present regulation.

Singing Group Conducts Rite For Officers

A candlelight installation of officers highlighted the meeting of Sweet Adelines, Inc., Friday night at Tice's Restaurant. About 75 attended.

Bill Brooks, past president of the Barbershop Society, was assisted in the ceremony by Mrs. Jean Witheroe. Inducted were: Mrs. Ruth Rinehart, president; Miss Jo Ann Vannoy, vice president; Mrs. June Morgan, recording secretary; Mrs. Clara Hall, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Edith Alexander, treasurer, and Mrs. Jan Dietz, delegate.

Mrs. Rinehart acted as mistress of ceremonies and read a letter of congratulation on winning third place in the recent regional competition at Atlantic City from Don Schussler, president of the men's group.

Quartet selections were given by the Heather Tones, the Colonials and the Barber Curls. Glenn Woods directed the chorus in several selections.

An original poem, "Sweet Adelines," by Mrs. Grace Wolf, was read by Mrs. Rinehart. A comedy routine "On the Boardwalk of Atlantic City," mimicking experiences at the competition, was presented by Mrs. Ann Claypool, Mrs. Alberta Bates, Mrs. Sally Lynn, Mrs. Morgan and Mrs. Hall.

Gifts were presented to the director, Woods, and to the Heather Tones, who placed first in the quartet competition. A community sing was conducted by Woods with Miss Vannoy at the piano.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Madeline Mack, Mrs. Phyllis Moore and Mrs. Alexander. The buffet table was decorated in the colors of the society, magenta and ivory. The centerpiece of roses and daisies was flanked by matching lighted tapers. A large cake with a congratulatory inscription was featured.

Guests were from Pittsburgh, Corapolis, Beaver and Beaver Falls. The chorus will meet at 7:45 Wednesday night at the Country Club to sing for the Wellsville Arts Club.

The next regular meeting will be Friday at the restaurant.

Toronto Resident Chosen To Head Youth Presbytery

Tom Cox of Toronto was elected moderator at the spring meeting of the Steubenville Youth Presbytery Sunday afternoon at the Dennison Presbyterian Church.

Linda McIntosh of East Liverpool is the retiring moderator. Tom Fannin of East Liverpool was named a district chairman as part of the previously-listed slate of nominees.

Dr. Charles Pinder and a "caravan" from Marietta were featured for the program. Other speakers were Dr. David Mellon of Brilliant and the Rev. Gene Toot of Hopedale.

Advisors include the Rev. Emmett Kelewae of Richmond and Mrs. Leroy Antram of Malvern. The Rev. Robert Neill is pastor of the host church.

A fall meeting is scheduled. The date and place will be announced later.

The Social -:- Notebook

Approximately 50 attended the mother - daughter tea given Friday night at the Calvary Methodist Church by the Upstreamers' Class.

The welcome was given by Mrs. Helen Padgett, president, and devotions were led by Mrs. Thelma Thomas, who used John 19:25-28 for Scripture.

A meditation, "He Loved His Mother," was given by Mrs. Thomas and prayer by Mrs. Lillian Richards.

The Young Women's Quartet, Mrs. Shirley Johnston, Mrs. Barbara Beighley, Mrs. Jean Grafton and Mrs. Jo Ann Bennett, gave several selections.

Miss Jean Saurbrei played a piano solo, and the group sang various songs including babyhood songs.

Gifts were presented Mrs. Roy Welch, oldest mother, and Mrs. Shirley Gaskill, youngest.

Guests received miniature hats made by the class under the supervision of Mrs. Laura Smith.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Padgett and Mrs. Elizabeth Smith. Mrs. Ruby Johnston was in charge of decorations.

The next class meeting will be held June 10 at the home of Mrs. Thomas on St. Clair Ave.

⁂ ⁂ ⁂

A letter was read from Mrs. Jennie McCarty, 91, of Warren, oldest member of the Daisy Protectors Club of Tri-state Sisterhood 199, Dames of Malta, by Mrs. Sylvia McDonald, reporter, at a meeting of the group Friday night at the home of Mrs. Gertrude McCall of Lisbon St.

The meeting was opened by Mrs. Grace McHenry, vice president, and Mrs. Pearl Long led devotions and used Scriptures from Ps. 112. Fourteen members answered roll call with the Lord's Prayer.

It was reported that four members of the club, Mrs. Ola Weaver, Mrs. McDonald, Mrs. McHenry, and Mrs. Lessie Thomas attended the recent school of instruction in Struthers where Mrs. Thomas received her degree.

160 Attend Inspection Held By Wellsville OES Chapter

Mrs. Ruth Phillips of Sebring, deputy grand matron, was inspecting officer for the 41st annual inspection of Wellsville Chapter 417, Order of Eastern Star, Wednesday night in the Masonic Temple. Some 160 members and visitors attended.

Mrs. Helen Geer, worthy matron, and Elmun Bemis, worthy patron, were in charge.

Decorations in the East included an open Bible on the gold satin backdrop with the five colored ribbons radiating from the Bible to a sun. A gold crown and scepter were also used. Baskets of white Easter lilies and dish gardens of greens were used about the chapter room.

Grand representatives presented were Mrs. Velma Cope of Lisbon, from Ohio to the state of Washington, and Mrs. Mabel Wokaty of Canal Fulton to Wyoming.

Visitors included 13 worthy matrons and 5 worthy patrons, along with 11 past matrons and past patrons of the local chapter. Also recognized were past deputy grand matrons of District 13 and past worthy matrons and patrons of other chapters.

Special recognition was given to 10 visitors from Pleasant Valley Chapter of Hanoverton, the girlhood hometown of the worthy matron. One of the group is 91.

Four candidates were initiated and presented white, leather-bound Bibles, gifts from relatives and friends, by John Dobson, associate patron. A solo, "I May Not Pass This Way Again," was sung by Mrs. Esther Binsley Smith, accompanied by Mrs. Adelaide Pike, guests from Lisbon.

The collection received for the Sunshine Fund will be sent to the Ohio Grand Chapter for the proposed Clinic Hospital. The programs were printed and made by Mrs. Lulu Hartford, a member of the local chapter. The outer covering depicted hands clasped in prayer.

Refreshments were served in the diningroom at the close of the ceremonies by the Past Matrons Association. The tables were centered with large character dolls depicting "Queen Esther." Huge, white candles with gold crowns, scepters and green foliage completed the decorations. Smaller storybook dolls, with handmade gowns representing Queen Esther, were favors.

Mrs. Frances Holcomb and committee used the identical theme in decorating both the temple diningroom and that of the Riverside United Presbyterian Church where dinner was served by Class 16 to approximately 100 preceding the inspection.

Corsages and gifts were presented to Mrs. Phillips, Mrs. Geer and the local officers. Tiny, gold Eastern Star wristwatch charms were presented the officers, a gift from Mrs. Geer.

Out - of - town guests were from Augusta, Homeworth, Hanoverton, Canal Fulton, Canton, Youngstown, East Palestine, East Liverpool, Salineville, Lisbon, Irondale, Negley, Minerva, Leetonia, Sebring, Columbiana, Chester, Weirton and Florence.

The next regular meeting will be May 23 at 8 o'clock in the temple.

Legion Auxiliary's Conference

137 Women Attend Chester Meeting

Some 137 women representatives of the American Legion Auxiliary First District and guests attended the annual spring conference at Chester Sunday.

Among officers at the event, shown above were, seated left to right, Mrs. Richard E. Davis of Morgantown, state auxiliary president; Mrs. Sidney B. Spiro of Fairmont, district president, and Mrs. Jack Triner of East Liverpool, conference secretary, and standing Mrs. William Ingold, president of the Chester Post 121 auxiliary; Mrs. Frank Rhea of Follansbee, newly-elected district president, and Mrs. Clair Finley of Chester, state auxiliary historian.

Mrs. Davis, speaking at a business session in the afternoon at the Chester post home, discussed the auxiliary's drive against obscene literature. She also spoke on Communism and membership plans.

Chester Mayor Burton Ward and William Martin, Chester Post 121 commander, welcomed the group in the morning session, which was preceded by registration and a coffee hour.

Gifts were presented to the distinguished guests. Dinner was served by the Sacred Heart Catholic Church Guild. The conference concluded with a tea.

In charge were Mrs. Finley, Mrs. Thelma Merriman and Mrs. Miriam Corcoran.

Seventeen of the 21 units in the First District were represented.

Milk House Bids Due

LISBON — Bids will be opened today by the county commissioners on construction of a new milk house at the County Home, according to Frank Wilson, chairman. Three bids have been submitted and a fourth may be received before the deadline. A septic tank disposal system is to be built in conjunction with the milk house. It is the second deadline for bids, as none was received at the first.

Marine Corps Unit Clears Plans For Ohio Meeting Here

The program for the Marine Corps League state convention in East Liverpool July 14-16 was accepted after it was presented by Kenneth Mills, local general chairman, at meetings Saturday and Sunday in Lima.

The program was accepted by the Ohio Marine Corps League and its auxiliary. Ralph Twyford, co-chairman, also attended. The meetings were held at the Kirwan Hotel and the Marine Corps League clubrooms.

Some 100 to 300 are expected to attend the convention here. Committees will be appointed at a special meeting May 26 at the club room on Dresden Ave. All Marines and ex-Marines have been asked to assist, Mills said.

Some 18 detachments were represented at the Lima meetings.

College Entrance Test Will Have Field Of 36

LISBON — Thirty-six Columbiana County students will take the College Entrance Examination Board tests Saturday at David Anderson High School.

Cornell P. Monda, school psychologist, and George Nace Jr., principal, will be in charge. The exams will be given in the morning. Nine have signed to take achievement tests in the afternoon.

Lisbon High School was named as the testing center last spring, along with Canton and Youngstown in this area. This is the last of three such tests held this year. The others were given Dec. 5, 1959, and March 21.

Four exams will be given next school term. The date will be announced later.

$1,500 Loss Fixed In Palestine Crash

EAST PALESTINE — Some $1,500 damage to two cars resulted in a collision at E. Martin and N. Market Sts. Saturday afternoon at 4:05, but neither of the two women drivers nor four children were hurt police reported.

Ruth June Felgar, 41, of Rogers Addition was charged with failure to yield the right-of-way after she made a turn into the path of an approaching auto operated by Shirley Harrold, 27, of New Waterford R. D. 1.

The Felgar woman's 1955 auto received some $900 damage, while the other car, a 1954 model, had about $600 damage, officers said.

Samuel Stewart, 70, of 285 E. Martin St. was cited for failure to yield the right-of-way after he made a turn in front of a car driven by George Rockenberger, 66, of 215 E. North Ave., causing a crash at Strawberry Alley and E. Martin St. Saturday at 2:45 p. m. police said.

Battle Site Trip Aired For Civil War Group

A discussion of a proposed trip to a number of Civil War battle fields early this summer was presented by three city men at a meeting of the Civil War Roundtable Saturday night at the Carnegie Public Library.

Paul Ward, Joseph Robbins and Clarence Bryan discussed the trip they plan to make to Mississippi and Georgia. About 23 attended the meeting of the newly formed group.

A planning session is to be held Thursday night at 8 at the library, at which a chairman is to be named.

2 Promoted In Crucible

LAWTON HOWELL
Named Assistant Manager.

E. A. MARCH
He'll Direct Metallurgy.

The Crucible Steel Co. has announced the promotion of two executives of the Midland Works — Lawton Howell to assistant works manager and E. A. March to company director of metallurgy.

Howell, formerly assistant controller for the company, succeeds March.

Howell joined Crucible in 1945 as a cost clerk at Midland. He served in various cost and general accounting positions before he was promoted to chief cost accountant in 1950. In 1953 he was transferred to Crucible's Sanderson-Halcomb Works in Syracuse, N. Y., as works controller, and in 1956 he moved to Pittsburgh as general supervisor of mill accounting at the company's general offices. He was appointed assistant controller in 1957.

He was graduated from Ohio State University in 1941 with a B.S. degree in busines administration.

He is a member of the Controllers Institute of America.

March joined Crucible in 1946 as metallurgist and mill control at the Sanderson - Halcomb Works. He became foreman of the rolling mill in 1948 and in 1950 metallurgist in the melting department. He was named general supervisor of metallurgical control two years later, chief works metallurgist in 1953 and assistant works manager in 1957.

March was transferred to Midland in 1958 as chief metallurgist and last October was appointed assistant works manager.

A native of Winamac, Ind., March was graduated from Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1941 with a B. S. degree in metallurgy.

He is a member of the Association of Iron and Steel Engineers, American Society for Metals, American Iron and Steel Institute, American Ordnance Association and American Management Association.

Mishap Hurts Canton Couple

A North Canton couple was injured Sunday afternoon when their car struck an embankment along Route 30 about eight miles north of here in one of four weekend crashes in the area reported by the State Highway Patrol at Lisbon.

A car driven by Harry Orendorf, 69, of Maximo Rd., North Canton, was passing traffic on Route 30 when he cut back into his own lane because of approaching cars. He lost control and his auto veered from the highway into an embankment officers said.

His wife, Kathryn, 64, was treated at City Hospital for lacerations of the nose and cuts about the eyes. He was treated for abrasions of the nose and bruises of the forehead.

Orendorf was charged with reckless operation. The front of his 1959 auto was damaged heavily the patrol reported.

Bryant Smith, 27, of Woodland, Miss., was cited for driving left of center Sunday morning after his tractor-trailer rig went out of control and struck guardrails along Route 7 about five miles south of Rogers at 4:40 a. m. The rig, which jackknifed and blocked traffic, received considerable damage, officers said.

Cars driven by Anthony Baker, 17, of Leetonia and Esther McClain, 44, of North Lima collided on Route 14 a mile east of Washingtonville Saturday night.

The woman suffered lacerations and the youth received bruises of the face in the crash which occurred when he made a turn into the path of her approaching car. He was charged with making an improper turn.

Robert Leitner, 27, of Napleon was treated at Salem City Hospital Sunday night after his car veered off a township road a half mile south of Route 14 and Firestone Farms, and hit a utility pole. He faces a charge of reckless operation.

Lawn Mower Mishaps Hurt 3 On Weekend

A city youth hurt in a fall from a bicycle while going fishing was admitted Sunday to City Hospital, where three persons hurt on lawn mowers were among 14 treated and released over the weekend.

Tom Jones, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jones of Rural Ln., is in "good" condition with a head injury and possible concussion received yesterday morning when thrown from his bicycle along St. Clair Ave.

The youth had a fishing pole on the bike and it slipped down and caught in the spokes of a wheel, locking it and throwing him forward, his parents said.

Mrs. Agnes Bess of Densmore Ave., LaCroft, was treated Sunday night for an injury to the head suffered when struck by an object thrown by a lawn mower while cutting grass.

Salem Grimm, 60, of Grant St., Newell an employe of Waterford Park, was treated yesterday morning for a puncture wound of the left foot suffered on a piece of wire while cutting grass.

Jerry Landfried, 2, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Landfried of R. D. 2, was treated last night for a laceration of the forehead received in a fall against a lawn mower.

Navella Beagle, 14, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Beagle, 397 W. 8th St., was treated last night for an injury to the left thumb which became caught in a car door.

Hit in the face by a swing at Thompson Park, Denise Abbott, 2, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anderson Abbott of 500 1st Ave., suffered bruises and abrasions of the left cheek yesterday.

Deborah Flara, 7, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Flara of Chester R. D. 1, received a possible fracture of a finger in a fall yesterday.

Margaret Wiegand, 6, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wiegand of Calcutta, was treated yesterday afternoon for a puncture wound of the left arm suffered on a storm door at home.

Russell Sendling, 39, of Shadyside Ave. received a puncture wound of the left hand from a screwdriver while at work on a car. He was treated Sunday.

James Owen Dailey, 4, son of Mrs. Mildred Dailey of 1013 Monaca St., suffered a laceration of a finger Saturday on the edge of a tin can.

Linda Douglas, 2, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Douglas, 719 Price St., was treated Saturday for a particle of a broken marble in the left eye.

Edward Snyder, 4, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Snyder of 219 Jefferson St., Newell, suffered a wound of the mouth when he fell Saturday, driving a tooth into a gum.

Aleta McKinnon, 4, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert McKinnon of the Y. and O. Rd., was treated for an injury of the left elbow suffered in a fall at home.

Mrs. Vada Johnson of 314-A W. 7th St. was treated Saturday for a laceration of the lower lip received in a fall on concrete steps at home.

Anna Smith, 12, of Wellsville R. D. 1 was treated Sunday afternoon for a laceration of the right arm received on chrome of a car while washing it.

2 City Traffic Mishaps Hurt Man And Baby

A 17-month-old Salineville infant and a Wellsville man were injured in two of seven traffic accidents over the weekend, police reported.

Michael V. Bonam, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde J. Bonam, 614 Water St., Salineville, was taken to City Hospital with a bruised cheek after an accident Sunday afternoon at Manor and Curry Lns., police said.

The infant was examined and referred to a physician, hospital authorities said.

Police said cars driven by Bonam, 21, and Jessie M. Henry, 72, of 633 Garner Ave. collided at the intersection.

Albert Siers, 33, of 1112 Mick Rd., Wellsville, driver of a car involved in a crash at 7 a. m. Saturday at Pennsylvania Ave. and Mulberry St., was treated at the hospital at 10:25 a. m. for an injured right shoulder.

Siers had stopped for a traffic signal and his car was hit from behind by an auto driven by Omar Hargraves, 530 Jefferson St., Newell, who said he was unable to stop because of the wet pavement.

When the door of his truck flew open, he almost fell out and the truck struck a parked car owned by Dr. J. H. Sloan, 514 Jackson St., late Saturday morning at Jefferson and W. 5th St., Keith Donald Smith, 18, of 133 Kountz Ave., Wellsville, told police.

Smith said he was making a turn from Jefferson onto W. 5th St. in a truck owned by Sayre Electric Retailing, Inc., when the door flew open and he almost fell out.

He caught himself on the door and pulled himself back into the seat and applied the brakes but was unable to stop in time to keep from hitting the parked car, Smith told police.

Alex DeBlander of North Canton forfeited a $31 bond on a charge of failing to stop within the assured clear distance after his car struck the rear of a car driven by George P. Lacaria, 45, of E. Detroit, Saturday night on Dresden Ave.

Wayne A. Weigle of Beaver reported to police Saturday night his car was damaged by the hit-skip driver of a pickup truck bearing a West Virginia license while parked on Broadway near E. 3rd St.

A collision at 12:20 p. m. Saturday on W. 9th St. near Chestnut involved vehicles operated by Georgianna Shenton, 36, of Park Pl., LaCroft, and Karl Franklin Haught, 25, of 901½ Chestnut St. The woman was driving a 1951 sedan owned by Grace E. Taylor, 610 John St., police said.

A crash on Dresden Ave. near Moore St. at 4 p. m. Saturday damaged cars driven by Paul E. Deshler, 43, of 912 Chestnut St. and Gene Williams, 774½ Woodlawn Ave., police were told. The motorists said they were unable to contact police because the telephone circuits were busy.

A BUILT - IN audio system will be provided in both buildings.

Heating and ventilating equipment will be located in the basement of the educational wing along with storage facilities.

The area surrounding the new buildings will be developed for outdoor religious services and with picnic and playground facilities.

Jury Seated It Lisbon In Salem Man's Trial

LISBON — The jury was seated and the trial started this morning in Common Pleas Court for a Salem man charged with incest.

Oliver Metts, 871 Granit St., was indicted by the April Grand Jury. He pleaded not guilty when arraigned.

The jury seated by Judge Joel H. Sharp includes Raymond O. Thorne and Beryl M. Smith of East Liverpool; Lee F. Walton and Clarence Williams of Wellsville; Letha S. King, Kurt Cameron, Elizabeth Corbett, and Mary Jane Cope, all of Salem; Loraine Clawges and Chester Burbick of Columbiana; Harold Conlin of Salineville, and Jean Schneider of Beloit. Ruth Kerr of Damascus is alternate.

Doctors Open Meeting

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland prepared today to play host to perhaps the largest convention of Ohio physicians in recent years. Nearly 4,000 doctors are expected for the annual meetings of the Ohio State Medical Assn. today through Thursday.

Kaycee Group To Plan Voting

Plans will be discussed for the election of officers in June at a meeting of the Cardinal Mercier General Assembly, Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus, Wednesday night at 8 at the Wellsville K. of C. Home.

The election is set June 15 at the East Liverpool K. of C. Home.

John Albert Dean, Ellis Hawkins, Wayne DeRhodes and John P. Kozora, who received the fourth degree at a Canton exemplification May 1, will be welcomed.

The group also will consider plans for the assembly's anniversary dinner.

Delegates to an Eastern Ohio District convention on May 22 at the Pick-Ohio Hotel in Youngstown, will be Frank R. O'Hanlon of East Liverpool, faithful navigator, and Fred Baldasarre of Wellsville, faithful admiral and past faithful navigator.

Chase Corner Gangs

CLEVELAND (AP) — Three hundred persons searched, 27 arrested, six sent home—that's the first weekend record of a police squad specially selected to forestall crime by breaking up street-corner gangs.

Club Speaker Named

LISBON — Dr. Charles Woltner, superintendent of the Woodside Receiving Hospital at Youngstown, will be guest speaker at a meeting of the Kiwanis Club Thursday noon at the Masonic Temple dining room. Cornell Monda is program chairman.

The secretarybird in South Africa has long legs and is a deadly enemy of snakes.

PHYSICIAN GETS TRIBUTE. A bronze plaque symbolizing appreciation of community service is presented by Supt. C. P. Henderson, right, to Dr. William S. Banfield at a dinner honoring him Saturday night in Stanton Local High School in Irondale. Looking on are the physician's wife, Libera, a son, William Scott Banfield II, and a daughter, Barbara. Citizens of the village held the banquet in appreciation of Dr. Banfield's 19 years service on the Board of Education and contributions to religious and civic life in the community.

Doctor Surprised At Irondale Fete

More than 200 attended a surprise testimonial dinner Saturday night at Irondale, paying tribute to Dr. William Scott Banfield, veteran physician and civic leader.

In its tribute to Dr. Banfield, held in the auditorium of Stanton Local High School, the Jefferson County village was joined by his associates from professional and civic interests. A practicing physician for 26 years, he has served 19 years on the Board of Education of Irondale area schools, including 13 years as president.

Members of the medical profession from East Liverpool and Wellsville and college friends paid tribute to Dr. Banfield, along with members of the Stanton Local Board of Education, School Supt. C. P. Henderson, former teachers, his family and friends. A 1929 graduate of Mt. Union College in Alliance, he is the village's only doctor.

Highlighting the testimonial was presentation of a bronze plaque by Supt. Henderson "in appreciation of your service to the educational, civic and religious betterment of our community from the citizens of Irondale."

Ronald Weber, vice president of Mount Union, presented Dr. Banfield with a citation from the school's president, Carl C. Bracy, as a salute for distinguished service as an alumnus.

—:—

THE FIRST BABY delivered by the physician on Sept. 21, 1934—Paul Dean Ferry of Irondale — and the first girl delivered, Valerie Boggs Patterson, were introduced from the audience. Both are married and each has two children.

"Dr. Bill," as he is known to many of the village's citizens, began practicing in Irondale in 1934 where he has since resided, although maintaining offices on W. 5th St. in East Liverpool.

He was graduated from Wellsville High School in 1925. After receiving a degree at Mount Union, he completed studies at Western Reserve University in Cleveland and interned at West Penn Hospital in Pittsburgh. He served as a lieutenant commander in the Navy during World War II.

HE WAS ELECTED to the former Saline Local Board of Education in 1941 and became president in 1947. The district later was reorganized as Stanton Local District in 1956 to include schools along the riverfront in Empire, Stratton and Port Homer.

A $498,000 bond issue was passed by voters last year for a new elementary school in the Empire area and a $1,597,000 bond issue was approved last month for a new high school in Hammondsville as the district expands to cope with growing enrollment.

He is a trustee of the Irondale Methodist Church and past master of Jenkins Masonic Lodge of Irondale.

His wife, Libera Williams Banfield; a son, William Scott Banfield II of Mount Union, and a daughter, Barbara, were present, along with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harlow Banfield of Wellsville, a brother, Dr. H. F. Banfield and family of East Liverpool, and a brother-in-law and sister, John and Mary Olive Harris of Cleveland.

REMARKS EXTOLLING the physician's service and loyalty were made by Dr. William L. Gilmore of East Liverpool City Hospital, David Boyce, vice president of Harker Pottery Co. and a member of the hospital's Board of Trustees, Lawrence Rudder, vice president of the Stanton Board, Mayor Quenton Henderson of Irondale and Pauline Berg of Euclid, who taught Dr. Banfield in the third grade.

Toastmaster A. L. Wardeska, clerk of the school board, also commented on the physician's service and expressed appreciation "for one who has done so much and given so generously to the community."

Wardeska introduced other guests, including Dr. Edith Gilmore, Dr. and Mrs. Janis Lauva, Dr. and Mrs. William J. Horger, Dr. and Mrs. John Harris, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Burgett, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Baker, McKinley Crook, Robert Beatty and Miss Mary Carson.

The audience was called upon for individual remarks and tribute was paid Dr. Banfield by representatives of churches, Boy Scouts, the village fire department, civic organizations and friends, including Atty. William Cooper of East Liverpool, a college classmate.

THE TOASTMASTER read a portion of a letter from Dr. W. J. Smart of England, former pastor of the Methodist Church, congratulating the physician on the occasion.

Supt. Henderson, in presenting the bronze plaque, cited Dr. Banfield's "wise judgment and discretion in execution of his powers on the board," adding that: "He has shown vision and ability to plan for our next generation."

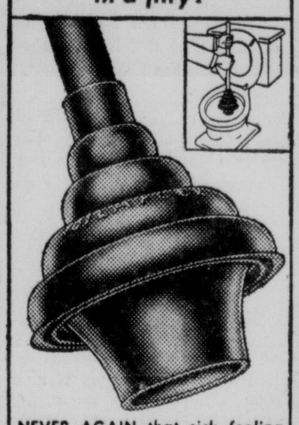
"We have been very fortunate to have had so busy a man serve on our board; his achievements are many and varied," the superintendent continued.

Supt. Henderson also pointed out that Dr. Banfield, a long - time booster of sports, gives medical attention to the school's athletic teams without charge.

Group singing was led by Stanley Frampton of the Masonic Lodge. Selections were presented by the Stanton High Band under the direction of Donald Pahl Invocation was offered by the Rev. John Millhorn of the Methodist Church.

Dinner was prepared by the Band Mothers and served by students. The committee included Alice Hickman, Supt. Henderson, Mayor Henderson, Mrs. Lola Tolson, Wardeska, Oliver Nicholson, Frampton, Aldo Pilutti, Millie Ferguson and Mrs. Mary Wardeska.

POWERFUL NEW PLUNGER CLEARS CLOGGED TOILETS in a jiffy!



NEVER AGAIN that sick feeling when your toilet overflows

'TOILAFLEX' Toilet ALL-ANGLE Plunger

Ordinary plungers don't seat properly, forcing air and water to splash back. Thus you have a mess and you lose the very pressure needed to clear the clogging mass.

With "Toilaflex", designed for toilets, no air or water can escape. The patented, tapered tail forms an air-tight fit: the full pressure plows through the obstruction and swishes it down. Can't miss!

- DOUBLE-SIZE CUP, DOUBLE-PRESSURE
- DESIGNED TO FLEX AT ANY ANGLE
- CENTERS ITSELF, CAN'T SKID AROUND

Doctors Open Meeting

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland prepared today to play host to perhaps the largest convention of Ohio physicians in recent years. Nearly 4,000 doctors are expected for the annual meetings of the Ohio State Medical Assn. today through Thursday.

Kaycee Group To Plan Voting

Plans will be discussed for the election of officers in June at a meeting of the Cardinal Mercier General Assembly, Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus, Wednesday night at 8 at the Wellsville K. of C. Home.

The election is set June 15 at the East Liverpool K. of C. Home.

John Albert Dean, Ellis Hawkins, Wayne DeRhodes and John P. Kozora, who received the fourth degree at a Canton exemplification May 1, will be welcomed.

The group also will consider plans for the assembly's anniversary dinner.

Delegates to an Eastern Ohio District convention on May 22 at the Pick-Ohio Hotel in Youngstown, will be Frank R. O'Hanlon of East Liverpool, faithful navigator, and Fred Baldasarre of Wellsville, faithful admiral and past faithful navigator.

Chase Corner Gangs

CLEVELAND (AP) — Three hundred persons searched, 27 arrested, six sent home—that's the first weekend record of a police squad specially selected to forestall crime by breaking up street-corner gangs.

Club Speaker Named

LISBON — Dr. Charles Woltner, superintendent of the Woodside Receiving Hospital at Youngstown, will be guest speaker at a meeting of the Kiwanis Club Thursday noon at the Masonic Temple dining room. Cornell Monda is program chairman.

The secretarybird in South Africa has long legs and is a deadly enemy of snakes.

PHYSICIAN GETS TRIBUTE. A bronze plaque symbolizing appreciation of community service is presented by Supt. C. P. Henderson, right, to Dr. William S. Banfield at a dinner honoring him Saturday night in Stanton Local High School in Irondale. Looking on are the physician's wife, Libera, a son, William Scott Banfield II, and a daughter, Barbara. Citizens of the village held the banquet in appreciation of Dr. Banfield's 19 years service on the Board of Education and contributions to religious and civic life in the community.

Doctor Surprised At Irondale Fete

More than 200 attended a surprise testimonial dinner Saturday night at Irondale, paying tribute to Dr. William Scott Banfield, veteran physician and civic leader.

In its tribute to Dr. Banfield, held in the auditorium of Stanton Local High School, the Jefferson County village was joined by his associates from professional and civic interests. A practicing physician for 26 years, he has served 19 years on the Board of Education of Irondale area schools, including 13 years as president.

Members of the medical profession from East Liverpool and Wellsville and college friends paid tribute to Dr. Banfield, along with members of the Stanton Local Board of Education, School Supt. C. P. Henderson, former teachers, his family and friends. A 1929 graduate of Mt. Union College in Alliance, he is the village's only doctor.

Highlighting the testimonial was presentation of a bronze plaque by Supt. Henderson "in appreciation of your service to the educational, civic and religious betterment of our community from the citizens of Irondale."

Ronald Weber, vice president of Mount Union, presented Dr. Banfield with a citation from the school's president, Carl C. Bracy, as a salute for distinguished service as an alumnus.

—:—

THE FIRST BABY delivered by the physician on Sept. 21, 1934—Paul Dean Ferry of Irondale — and the first girl delivered, Valerie Boggs Patterson, were introduced from the audience. Both are married and each has two children.

"Dr. Bill," as he is known to many of the village's citizens, began practicing in Irondale in 1934 where he has since resided, although maintaining offices on W. 5th St. in East Liverpool.

He was graduated from Wellsville High School in 1925. After receiving a degree at Mount Union, he completed studies at Western Reserve University in Cleveland and interned at West Penn Hospital in Pittsburgh. He served as a lieutenant commander in the Navy during World War II.

HE WAS ELECTED to the former Saline Local Board of Education in 1941 and became president in 1947. The district later was reorganized as Stanton Local District in 1956 to include schools along the riverfront in Empire, Stratton and Port Homer.

A $498,000 bond issue was passed by voters last year for a new elementary school in the Empire area and a $1,597,000 bond issue was approved last month for a new high school in Hammondsville as the district expands to cope with growing enrollment.

He is a trustee of the Irondale Methodist Church and past master of Jenkins Masonic Lodge of Irondale.

His wife, Libera Williams Banfield; a son, William Scott Banfield II of Mount Union, and a daughter, Barbara, were present, along with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harlow Banfield of Wellsville, a brother, Dr. H. F. Banfield and family of East Liverpool, and a brother-in-law and sister, John and Mary Olive Harris of Cleveland.

REMARKS EXTOLLING the physician's service and loyalty were made by Dr. William L. Gilmore of East Liverpool City Hospital, David Boyce, vice president of Harker Pottery Co. and a member of the hospital's Board of Trustees, Lawrence Rudder, vice president of the Stanton Board, Mayor Quenton Henderson of Irondale and Pauline Berg of Euclid, who taught Dr. Banfield in the third grade.

Toastmaster A. L. Wardeska, clerk of the school board, also commented on the physician's service and expressed appreciation "for one who has done so much and given so generously to the community."

Wardeska introduced other guests, including Dr. Edith Gilmore, Dr. and Mrs. Janis Lauva, Dr. and Mrs. William J. Horger, Dr. and Mrs. John Harris, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Burgett, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Baker, McKinley Crook, Robert Beatty and Miss Mary Carson.

The audience was called upon for individual remarks and tribute was paid Dr. Banfield by representatives of churches, Boy Scouts, the village fire department, civic organizations and friends, including Atty. William Cooper of East Liverpool, a college classmate.

THE TOASTMASTER read a portion of a letter from Dr. W. J. Smart of England, former pastor of the Methodist Church, congratulating the physician on the occasion.

Supt. Henderson, in presenting the bronze plaque, cited Dr. Banfield's "wise judgment and discretion in execution of his powers on the board," adding that: "He has shown vision and ability to plan for our next generation."

"We have been very fortunate to have had so busy a man serve on our board; his achievements are many and varied," the superintendent continued.

Supt. Henderson also pointed out that Dr. Banfield, a long - time booster of sports, gives medical attention to the school's athletic teams without charge.

Group singing was led by Stanley Frampton of the Masonic Lodge. Selections were presented by the Stanton High Band under the direction of Donald Pahl Invocation was offered by the Rev. John Millhorn of the Methodist Church.

Dinner was prepared by the Band Mothers and served by students. The committee included Alice Hickman, Supt. Henderson, Mayor Henderson, Mrs. Lola Tolson, Wardeska, Oliver Nicholson, Frampton, Aldo Pilutti, Millie Ferguson and Mrs. Mary Wardeska.

IBOP Convention To Act

New Union Constitution To Restrain Court Actions

A clause restraining court actions by members and another changing the procedure under which local unions may seek a referendum are two of the highlights in a proposed new constitution of the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters which will be presented to delegates at the annual convention opening June 27 in Seattle.

The proposed new constitution, drafted in more than a year of committee work, was published in its entirety Friday in the Potters Herald, official union newspaper. It filled two complete pages and part of another in the newspaper —a total of over 20 columns.

The question of referendums and court suits is foremost in IBOP affairs at present, as an action is pending in Common Pleas Court against the union as part of an effort by a group of members to force a vote of the trade on the question of erecting a new international headquarters.

Under the new constitution a member would be required to "exhaust every possible effort" for redress of his grievance before taking court action against the IBOP or any of its members.

Section 12 says: "Any member or members of the Brotherhood attempting to or actually resorting to court action in an attempt to redress an actual or so-called grievance against any member of the Brotherhood or an act of the convention or any authorized agent or agents thereto without first exhausting every possible effort to redress the grievance under the laws of the constitution of the Brotherhood shall be considered as a violation of the constitution and suspended by the Executive Board."

Under the present constitution, eight local unions may enact resolutions seeking a vote of the trade on convention action, for instance. In the new constitution, the resolutions would be required of "at least 10 local unions in 5 states, territories or provinces consisting of at least 10 per cent of the membership of the Brotherhood in good standing."

The IBOP said the new constitution is designed to make the union "laws more invulnerable from periodic political attacks, court proceedings and state and federal laws..." It added that "there are no sleepers or gimmicks in the broad, modern trade union rules that are in keeping with other international union constitutions of the AFL-CIO."

Sections of the constitution which are new will require approval of the convention delegates before becoming effective, the IBOP said.

"There are only a few changes involved, such as tightening and buttressing some antiquated by-laws," it added. Both the 1959 and 1960 conventions recommended "an up-to-date, legally sound constitution," the IBOP said. Additions, corrections or clarifications may be published later, it added.

The constitution committee was comprised of five local union members, each representing a different branch of the trade, and two Executive Board members who acted in an advisor capacity, the union said.

4 Area Students Wait Kent State Honor Day

Three city girls and one from Wellsville will be among Kent State University students to be cited at a special honors day ceremony May 25.

They include Lillian Kohler, 2230 Pennsylvania Ave., Judith N. Miller, 3231 St. Clair Ave., and Ruth E. Ramsey, 1755 Globe St., all of East Liverpool, and Diane Moore, 216 Wells Ave., Wellsville.

The first evidence of language in the world dates back only to about 4,000 B.C., but it is probable that languages existed in a spoken form much earlier.

Brownies Conduct Fly-Up Ceremony

Mrs. George Elliott, neighborhood chairman, stressed importance of parent interest in the scouting program at the fly-up ceremony of Brownie Troop 76 Friday night in the Covenant United Presbyterian Church at Wellsville.

Some 75 attended and 20 Brownies received pins.

The program, in charge of Mrs. Elliott, included a talent show as follows: Piano solo, Gretchen Smith; vocal trio "Mother," Sue Leyda, Cindy Salsberry and Karen Chema; vocal solo "It's No Secret," Lola Porter; piano solo, Dottie Elliott; poem "My Mother," Judy Ralston; vocal solo "Whispering Prayer," Stella Wright; poem "To My Mom," Inez Long; song "A Good Girl Scout," Patricia Lewis, Roxie Wright, Barbara Heaton, Toby Weekley and Dottie Elliott; poem, "Children's Hour," Teddy Heaton.

Scripture and prayer were in charge of Mrs. Mary Lou Phenecie. Lunch was served by Mrs. Betty Salsberry, Mrs. Lloyd Fieldings, Mrs. Dorothy Chema and Mrs. Phenecie.

250 Attend Lisbon's Junior-Senior Prom

LISBON — Over 250 students, parents and friends attended different phases of the annual Junior - Senior prom Friday evening in the David Anderson High School auditorium. A theme of "Emerald City" was used for decorations.

Steven Frew and Donna Ferguson were crowned king and queen by last year's couple, James Tanner and Kay Thorne.

Music was furnished by Harry Woodfield's orchestra and Jud Warstler's band.

Breakfast was served in an after-prom party at the American Legion home from 3:30 to 6 by parents of the junior members.

Trying To Sell A House? Don't Forget Little Things

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

Some years ago we learned an interesting lesson about the sale of a house.

We accompanied a friend on a full day's tour as he looked for a house that would suit both his pocketbook and his tastes. Nothing seemed to catch his fancy and, at the end of the day, we discussed some of the houses we had seen.

"You know," he said, "I might have been interested in that 7-room split level we looked at except for one thing. Did you notice the way that kitchen faucet was leaking?"

He explained that if the owner could not be bothered with fixing a faucet leak, especially when the house was up for sale, he probably neglected the big things too.

For the want of a washer, therefore, the sale probably was lost.

We since have had considerable confirmation of this point: prospective home purchasers often are discouraged from entering into negotiations because of small things.

They may overlook the fact that a house needs painting (which will cost them several hundred dollars if they make the purchase), but they become wary if a door knob is loose, even though replacing a set screw, at a cost of a few cents, will repair the trouble.

The philosophy of our friend was not without merit. It probably would not be true all the time that a home owner who neglects small things also neglects big things. But the chances are it would stand up under examination most of the time. And when you are making what might be the biggest investment of your life, you aren't in a mood to take chances.

So, before you place that house on the market, spend a few dollars and a little time fixing those small things that you might have thought really didn't matter. They do.

In what age group is the largest percentage of home buyers? Says the FHA: the 25-to-30 age group. It accounts for more than 24 per cent of all new home buyers and more than 22 per cent of existing home buyers.

In 1954, 17 per cent of new homes had aluminum windows. Today, one estimate is that the figure is up to more than 40 per cent.

A survey by Swimming Pool Age indicates that some 85,000 new swimming pools — all of the permanent, in-the-ground type — will be constructed in the United States this year. About two-thirds of them will be of the backyard variety, the rest falling into the non-residential category.

In using marine paint on your boat, the axiom that applies to nearly all finishing materials is especially true: two thin coats are better than one thick coat.

Proper Light Helps Home

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

If there is a flaw in the home decor that has been precisely planned down to the last painting, it is likely to be in the lighting, says Marvin Gelman, half of a team that specializes in giving lighting advice.

"Homemakers spend countless hours and thousands of dollars to get the right paint, wood finish, floor coverings and other furnishings. But these fine details will be lost if they are not seen in the proper light," says Gelman.

Colors can become muddy or distorted and patterns and textures of lovely fabrics can be lost if the house is too bright or there is too little flexibility in light levels, he says.

Gelman and his partner, Marvin Dworkin, specialize in lighting services for homes, stores and displays and offer this checklist for the amateur decorator who would like to check her lighting quotient:

Living room . . . It should be warmly cozy and livable, efficient in terms of activities such as reading, card games, conversation groups, dining areas.

FLUORESCENT light in the living room is likely to be less flattering to people and objects than incandescent light. Opaque shades on lamps can not be counted on to achieve general luminosity as they merely shed light straight upward or downward.

The recessed ceiling type lights may be used for soft, general illumination. "Linear" lighting, in which bulbs are concealed behind decorative cornices or recessed in the ceciling to light one or more walls are especially good where there are pictures or special wall murals. Supplementary fill light—table, floor lamps or fixtures suspended from the ceiling add warmth and sparkle to focal areas of interest.

Dining room . . . Diffused light from wall sconces will not do justice to silver, china, glassware. But avoid a central pool of light over the table in a room of darkness. Wall light is necessary to give proper dimension to the room and join the table light to bring out the true colors and design of flowers and table linens.

Kitchen . . . Is the lighting up to date? Cool white fluorescent tubes behind glass, plexiglas or plastic will accomplish a high level of light which is shadowless, and strictly functional.

BEDROOM . . . The reading light should be adequate, not small, dim or too far away. Pin spots in the ceciling will focus on reading material with a minimum of disturbing "spill" light for non-readers sharing the room. There should be a soft subdued lighting effect for quiet relaxation in addition to reading light. This may be accomplished with bedside table lamps.

Bathroom . . . Perimeter lighting around the bathroom mirror will offer visibility for shaving or makeup. It may be accomplished with bulbs or fluorescent tubes. A double light system is a good makeup guide, warm tones used for evening, and bright daylight bulbs for a makeup gauge to the outdoors.

An overall diffused lighting provided by a luminous ceiling offers advantages for night time lighting if it is on a dimmer control system.

Correct Technique Outlined For Painting Southern Pine

AP Newsfeatures

Question: Southern pine siding has been recommended to me as being inexpensive, but I have been told that this wood is difficult to paint. Is there any way of getting a satisfactory paint job on Southern pine?

Answer: Southern pine can be satisfactorily painted if the proper prime coat and top coat are selected and if they are properly applied. Because of the long growing season in the South, this pine has wide bands of both summer and spring wood which not only absorb paint differently but also react differently to absorbed water. These differences cause strains in the bond between paint and wood which can cause breaks in the paint film.

It is important to select the better grades of siding, using only B and better or C grade which has been properly seasoned.

The primer is of paramount importance when painting this wood, and it is best to use one that is specifically recommended for Southern pine by its manufacturer.

If such a recommended primer is not available, however, one has a choice of three primers. Linseed oil primers of the type Federal Specification TT-P-25a have the longest history of all special primers for this wood. Similar primers are available as regular house paint primers and will give good service if the wood is carefully selected and all good painting practices are followed, but they are not foolproof.

Blister-resistant primers which are specified for Southern pine also can be used. A paint dealer recommending them should be able to point out examples where they are giving good service.

Aluminum primers have been recommended by the Forest Products Laboratory of the Department of Agriculture, but the primer selected should be one specifically recommended for Southern pine.

The best selection for the topcoat should be the recommendation of the manufacturer of the primer.

It is highly desirable that three coats of paint — primer and two top coats — be applied to new wood. If only two coats are applied, the first coat should cover no more than 450 square feet per gallon and the second coat not more than 500.

How Can I

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I mix my own cement for mending some crockery?

A. Here's one which might take a very long time to dry, but is well worth it, for it will stand up under heat and water. Just mix a little pure white lead with some linseed oil, and use it very thick on the broken edges of your crockery. Let it set for at least a week.

Q. How can I put some life and crispness into a limp veil?

A. This trouble can be cured by putting the veil between two pieces of waxed paper and running a moderately warm iron over it.

Q. How can I prevent snow and sleet from sticking to the windshield of my car?

A. Try rubbing a cut raw onion over the outside surface of the glass.

TOP STUDENT DRIVERS. These youths emerged winners of the Teen-age Safe Driving Road-E-O contest held Sunday afternoon at Loblaw's Market parking lot by the Junior Chamber of Commerce in co-operation with the Standard Oil Co. Delmar Manning, chairman, is shown handing a plaque to Steve Cooper, 930 North St., first place winner in the boys' division. Left to right are Miss Marian J. Wilson, 416 Prospect St., first place winner in the girls' division; Cooper; Charles Holsinger of W. Walnut St., Rogers, who copped second place; Manning, and Ruth Carlisle of Lisbon R. D. 3 and Roy Burson, 1536 Pennsylvania Ave., both third place winners. Linda DeLong, 1806 Montana Ave., second place winner in the girls' division, was not present when the picture was taken. Twenty-three participated. The winners' combined scores for both the written and driving tests were: Cooper, 324 out of a possible 400; Miss Wilson, 292; Holsinger, 306; Miss DeLong, 268; Burson, 299, and Miss Carlisle, 268. Besides the plaque, first place winners receive $20 cash while $10 and $5 were given second and third place winners, respectively. The two champions will go to the state contest June 5 at Warren.

City Firemen Respond To 3 Weekend Alarms

City firemen extinguished a shed fire, investigated the odor of smoke in a home and carried a defective refrigerator from a house in three calls answered over the weekend.

Firemen said children set fire to the shed near the S. C. Williams Co. on lower Jackson St. The firm uses the shed to cut cardboard and the children ignited the dust, causing the shed to catch fire. Two trucks responded.

Firemen checked for the odor of burning electric wire at the home of Mrs. Edna Reynolds, 135 W. Church Ln., Saturday night at 10:35 p. m.

They were called to the home of D. A. Doughty, 257 Pennsylvania Ave., at 6:38 a. m. today when a refrigerant gas started leaking from a refrigerator. The unit was placed outside, firemen said.

11 Salineville Students Get 'Superior Ratings'

SALINEVILLE — Eleven Salineville students achieved "superior" ratings at a district junior high school solo and ensemble contest Saturday at Steubenville.

Top ratings went to Billy Forbes, trombone; Bonita Dangelo, tenor sax; Cynthia Smith, flute; Rose Ann Smith and Robert Cole, French horn; Lloyd Meister, cornet; Cindy Catlett, piccolo; Jack Fields, drum, and Donald Anderson, tuba.

Janice Hunter and Rene Forbes received a "superior" rating in a trombone duet.

The 65-member band will participate in the annual United Commercial Travelers safety parade at Salem Saturday.

Brush Up On Your Painting Terms

NEW YORK — With the painting season about to go into high, now is the time to brush up on some of the terms you will be meeting in paint advertisements, how-to-do-it articles and in conversations with your paint dealer or painting contractor.

Paint can best be defined as a liquid which, when applied, dries to form a tough, solid film on surfaces we want to beautify and protect. Most of us use the term paint to include such kindred products as enamel, varnish and lacquer.

Paint consists of three major parts: vehicle, primer and solvent, sometimes called thinner.

The vehicle, which is also known as the base or binder, is the part of paint that forms the film. In opaque coatings such as paint and enamel, it holds the pigment or color particles together. Vehicles are either drying oils such as linseed oil, tung oil, castor oil, or they are resins, either natural or synthetic.

THE SOLVENT is the volatile fluid in which the resin is dissolved so that it can be applied by brush, roller or spray. When the vehicle is an oil, the solvent is generally called a thinner, because it makes the oil thin enough to be easily brushed. Turpentine or mineral spirits is the usual solvent or thinner for oil and alkyd-based paints.

The thinner for water - emulsion paints is, naturally, water. These paints are sometimes called water - thinned paints, emulsion paints, latex or rubber - based paints. Latex paints seldom contain rubber. They are synthetic resins and the chemical name used, e.g. butadiene-styrene, polyvinyl acetate (PVA or vinyl), and acrylic. They all share these characteristics: no painty odor, dry in an hour or less, do not show lap marks, brushes and rollers clean in water, and spills and spatters can be removed with a damp cloth.

The first water - emulsion paints were used only for interior walls, but now they are formulated for use on all exterior surfaces, including wood. It is imperative that directions for these new exterior emulsion paints be read and followed carefully before using.

Enamel is an opaque coating designed to flow and level well and give a smooth, extremely tough finish. It comes as a gloss, semi-gloss or flat finish and in interior and exterior formulations. Enamels are the most washable and abrasion resistant of consumer-type coatings.

VARNISH IS a colorless coating which dries to a tough, transparent film which can take lots of abuse. It is used for floors, furniture and wherever it is desired that the natural wood grain show through. There are colored varnishes which are known as varnish stains.

Alkyd resins are synthetic resins formed by combining an alcohol and an acid. They make a tough base for oil-based paints, enamels and varnishes and are the most widely used base today.

A primer is a paint formulated especially to seal or adhere firmly to surfaces to which it is applied. Primers are needed and should be used when recommended. It forms a sound foundation for the top or finish coats and prevents uneven absorption of the top coat. The primer used for enamel is often called an "enamel undercoater." There is a rust-inhibiting primer available to be used when painting your metal porch rails. The new exterior emulsion paints can be used only with the primer specified by the manufacturer.

Lacquer is an extremely quick drying coating most often applied in the factory to manufactured products. There is a special type known as brushing lacquer that does not dry so quickly and is more suitable for home use.

Multicolor paint consists of two or more colors applied simultaneously from a single source.

Kitchen And Bathrooms Help To Clinch Sale Of New Home

CHICAGO — New home sales can be closed more quickly by the kitchen and bathrooms than by any other feature of the house—if these rooms look better by comparison with the prospective home buyer's present kitchen and bathroom, experts in the housing field claim.

The kitchen and the bathrooms are the only furnished rooms in the house. It is for this reason that more and more people are judging the quality of the whole house by the quality of the kitchen and bathrooms.

The No. 1 feature of the kitchen which will help sell the entire house is the number of labor-saving items it contains, such as a dishwasher, food waste disposer and built - in oven and range.

These are custom extras that the consumer seldom knows she wants until she sees them. Often these are the features that clinch the sale, the Plumbing - Heating - Cooling Information Bureau points out.

Another sales feature the builder should consider is the durability and economy of the kitchen. Because of the long-term investment involved, durability and economy are very important sales features of the kitchen that sells the house.

The customer wants to know if the kitchen will last the life of the mortgage with little maintenance expense.

The custom look is a third important sales feature of the kitchen that sells the house. Without it, the kitchen, although brand new, looks obsolete and puts an immediate "no" on the sale.

Does the kitchen provide adequate storage? This is another question to which an affirmative answer can mean a sale. More than anything else today, the housewife needs more storage space than her present kitchen provides. Adequate storage space is selling point No. 4.

Electric heating costs over four times as much as GAS!

Advertisements on electric home heating would have you believe that electric resistance heating is inexpensive.

The fact is that electricity costs over four times as much as Gas to heat an identical home. A recent study of a typical house in this area indicated the annual heating cost with Gas to be $116.87.* To heat the identical house by the electric resistance method would cost about $492.00 a year.

In addition to the economy of heating with Gas, you get these other advantages with Gas.

• YOUR HOME IS MORE COMFORTABLE
Gas Heat provides free circulation of air to keep all parts of your home comfortable.

• YOUR HOME IS MORE HEALTHFUL
At reasonable cost, Gas Heat can put more heated, healthful, fresh air in your home for your family. But that is not all. To keep electric heating costs from going even higher, homes must be made so "tight" they are virtually "fresh air proof." The result . . . stale, dead air and stuffy rooms.

• YOUR HOME IS ALWAYS WARM IN WINTER
Gas Heat is always dependable. It seldom fails you during wind storms, hail, sleet storms, or heavy snow.

• YOUR HOME IS CLEAN
Filtered Gas Heat helps eliminate stale air in your home. There is less deposit of cooking vapors on walls, windows, drapes, and furnishings.

• YOUR HOME IS SAFE
Modern Gas Furnaces are fully equipped with safety controls approved by safety engineers.

• YOUR HOME IS BETTER EQUIPPED FOR FUTURE AIR CONDITIONING
With forced air Gas Heat, you already have duct work that converts easily for air conditioning.

BE MODERN, BE THRIFTY, BE WISE. ALWAYS INSIST ON GAS HEAT FOR YOUR HOME.

Besides the plaque, first place winners receive $20 cash while $10 and $5 were given second and third place winners, respectively. The two champions will go to the state contest June 5 at Warren.

City Firemen Respond To 3 Weekend Alarms

City firemen extinguished a shed fire, investigated the odor of smoke in a home and carried a defective refrigerator from a house in three calls answered over the weekend.

Firemen said children set fire to the shed near the S. C. Williams Co. on lower Jackson St. The firm uses the shed to cut cardboard and the children ignited the dust, causing the shed to catch fire. Two trucks responded.

Firemen checked for the odor of burning electric wire at the home of Mrs. Edna Reynolds, 135 W. Church Ln., Saturday night at 10:35 p. m.

They were called to the home of D. A. Doughty, 257 Pennsylvania Ave., at 6:38 a. m. today when a refrigerant gas started leaking from a refrigerator. The unit was placed outside, firemen said.

11 Salineville Students Get 'Superior Ratings'

SALINEVILLE — Eleven Salineville students achieved "superior" ratings at a district junior high school solo and ensemble contest Saturday at Steubenville.

Janice Hunter and Rene Forbes received a "superior" rating in a trombone duet.

Brush Up On Your Painting Terms

NEW YORK — With the painting season about to go into high, now is the time to brush up on some of the terms you will be meeting in paint advertisements, how-to-do-it articles and in conversations with your paint dealer or painting contractor.

Paint can best be defined as a liquid which, when applied, dries to form a tough, solid film on surfaces we want to beautify and protect. Most of us use the term paint to include such kindred products as enamel, varnish and lacquer.

Paint consists of three major parts: vehicle, primer and solvent, sometimes called thinner.

The vehicle, which is also known as the base or binder, is the part of paint that forms the film. In opaque coatings such as paint and enamel, it holds the pigment or color particles together. Vehicles are either drying oils such as linseed oil, tung oil, castor oil, or they are resins, either natural or synthetic.

THE SOLVENT is the volatile fluid in which the resin is dissolved so that it can be applied by brush, roller or spray. When the vehicle is an oil, the solvent is generally called a thinner, because it makes the oil thin enough to be easily brushed. Turpentine or mineral spirits is the usual solvent or thinner for oil and alkyd-based paints.

The thinner for water - emulsion paints is, naturally, water. These paints are sometimes called water - thinned paints, emulsion paints, latex or rubber - based paints. Latex paints seldom contain rubber. They are synthetic resins and the chemical name used, e.g. butadiene-styrene, polyvinyl acetate (PVA or vinyl), and acrylic. They all share these characteristics: no painty odor, dry in an hour or less, do not show lap marks, brushes and rollers clean in water, and spills and spatters can be removed with a damp cloth.

The first water - emulsion paints were used only for interior walls, but now they are formulated for use on all exterior surfaces, including wood. It is imperative that directions for these new exterior emulsion paints be read and followed carefully before using.

Enamel is an opaque coating designed to flow and level well and give a smooth, extremely tough finish. It comes as a gloss, semi-gloss or flat finish and in interior and exterior formulations. Enamels are the most washable and abrasion resistant of consumer-type coatings.

VARNISH IS a colorless coating which dries to a tough, transparent film which can take lots of abuse. It is used for floors, furniture and wherever it is desired that the natural wood grain show through. There are colored varnishes which are known as varnish stains.

Alkyd resins are synthetic resins formed by combining an alcohol and an acid. They make a tough base for oil-based paints, enamels and varnishes and are the most widely used base today.

A primer is a paint formulated especially to seal or adhere firmly to surfaces to which it is applied. Primers are needed and should be used when recommended. It forms a sound foundation for the top or finish coats and prevents uneven absorption of the top coat. The primer used for enamel is often called an "enamel undercoater." There is a rust-inhibiting primer available to be used when painting your metal porch rails. The new exterior emulsion paints can be used only with the primer specified by the manufacturer.

Lacquer is an extremely quick drying coating most often applied in the factory to manufactured products. There is a special type known as brushing lacquer that does not dry so quickly and is more suitable for home use.

Multicolor paint consists of two or more colors applied simultaneously from a single source.

Cubs' Cardwell Hurls First No-Hitter Of Season Over Cards

Orioles Sweep Red Sox, Gain Deadlock For First Place

Bucs Split Pair With Milwaukee

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Don Cardwell is a shining example of the old baseball cliche that a change of uniform is good for a man now and then.

Unable to last more than six innings for the Philadelphia Phillies who traded him Friday, the 24-year-old right-hander came through with a no-hit, no-run game Sunday, in his first start as a Chicago Cub.

Cardwell retired the first hitter, walked Alex Grammas on a 3-2 pitch and then set down 26 St. Louis Cardinals in succession en route to his 4-0 victory.

It was the first no-hitter in the National League since Sal Maglie of the Dodgers, then Brooklyn, threw one against the Phillies in the waning days of the 1956 pennant race.

Pittsburgh's Harvey Haddix pitched 12 perfect innings last year only to give up a hit and lose the game to Milwaukee in the 13th. The last American League no-hitter was pitched by Hoyt Wilhelm of Baltimore against New York, Sept. 20, 1958.

Cardwell's only previous 1960 win was in relief against Milwaukee. He had lost to Pittsburgh and Milwaukee and failed to go the route in four starts. Over the years he has had only fair success in the majors, never getting up to the .500 mark for a full season.

In the ninth pinch hitter Carl Sawatski slammed a long drive to right field that George Altman caught against the wall. With two out and a 3-2 count on Joe Cunningham, the batter hit a low liner to left which Walt Moryn grabbed for a shoestring catch.

Cardwell's dramatic performance in the second game came after St. Louis finally had won its first game on the road. The Cards' 6-1 decision in the opener with the help of two home runs by Ken Boyer broke a 12-game losing streak away from home.

Orlando Cepeda's two-run triple in the eighth gave first-place San Francisco a 2-0 decision over Los Angeles. Johnny Antonelli allowed only six hits in his first complete game of the year, boosting the Giants' lead over Pittsburgh to 1½ games.

Pittsburgh had to be satisfied with a split at Milwaukee. The Pirates hopped on Warren Spahn for four runs in the first inning and took the opener 6-4 but bowed to the Braves in the second 4-2 on Hank Aaron's three-run homer off Bennie Daniels in the first inning.

Cincinnati and Philadelphia players engaged in a free-for-all in the eighth inning of their first game after the Reds' Raul Sanchez hit three Philly batters with low pitches. Manager Gene Mauch of the Phils charged the mound and players from both sides squared off. Billy Martin of the Reds went to the hospital from a punch on the jaw. The Phils won the first 14-3 for Gene Conley and the Reds got even 5-1 behind Don Newcombe.

Kuenn's HR Gives Indians Nightcap

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

The "Baby Birds" from Baltimore threaten to put the accent on youth in the American League race. With the help of one 21-year-old and another of 22, the Orioles have flown into a first place tie with the venerable Chicago White Sox.

Steve Barber, a left-hander, is the 21-year-old. Vaulting from the low minors Barber won his second for the Orioles with a fine three-hitter against Boston in the 2-1 first game of a double header Sunday.

Chuch Estrada, 22, wasn't even on the Baltimore roster in the spring but when he showed up there was no sending him home. He walked in to relieve Hector Brown with the bases loaded and none out in the sixth inning of the second game at Boston and struck out five men in a four-inning workout.

Brown got credit for the victory because the Orioles were well on their way to a 7-4 victory when he left.

Early Wynn, Chicago's 40-year-old ace, finally hit his stride, blanking Cleveland with five hits, 4-1, in his first complete game of the year. However, the Indians came back to beat Gerry Staley in the second game 6-3 on a three-run homer by Harvey Kuenn in the 10th inning.

New York rolled up five in the first inning, in which Elston Howard tripled with the bases loaded, and rolled to an 11-2 romp over Washington behind Art Ditmar.

Kansas City blasted Detroit's four-game winning streak by taking both ends of a doubleheader, 5-0 on Bud Daley's three-hitter and 5-4 on Harry Chiti's 10th inning clutch single.

Rookie Marv Breeding hit his first big league home run for Baltimore leading off in the first inning of the opener. Clint Courtney's sacrifice fly drove in the deciding run in the seventh. Baltimore chased Frank Sullivan in a six-run first inning in the second game.

Wynn's performance must have been pleasing to Manager Al Lopez of the White Sox for it was his first victory of the year. Chicago took a 3-2 lead into the ninth inning of the second game but the Indians tied it and won on Kuenn's first homer of the year with Johnny Temple and Jimmy Piersall on base in the 10th. It was Staley's first defeat.

Gil McDougald and Tony Kubek homered for the Yanks and Earl Battey and Jim Lemon for the Senators in the game at Washington.

Bob Cerv smashed three home runs for Kansas City, two in the first game to back up Daley's fine pitching. Chiti drove in four of the Kansas City runs in the second game with a two-run homer, a double and his game-winning single.

Red-Hot Pirates Slam 57 Hits In 4 Contests

By DAVE O'HARA

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The red-hot Pittsburgh Pirates left Milwaukee's County Stadium echoing with the stinging ring of base hits. And the Braves' highly-touted pitching corps was in a virtual state of shock.

The Pirates blasted out 57 hits, 21 for extra bases, to capture the series three games to one and take a firmer hold on second place in the National League flag chase.

Pittsburgh belted the Braves 6-4 in the opener of a double-header Sunday, but then had a five-game winning streak snapped as the Braves salvaged the series wind-up 4-2 on Hank Aaron's three-run homer.

"We ran out of timely hits in the second game," said Pittsburgh Manager Danny Murtaugh. "Otherwise, we would have had a sweep. We have a long home stand opening Tuesday and if the boys can keep hitting we should do all right."

The Pirates enjoyed a field day at the expense of the Braves until finally stopped by southpaw Juan Pizarro and relief artist Don McMahon in the nightcap of the twin bill. They still managed 11 hits.

"They were hot and there was no stopping them," said Milwaukee Manager Charlie Dressen. "But let's wait until July and August. They don't have a lineup of .400 hitters. They all do come down sometime."

Fishing Rodeo Set On May 28

Plans moved ahead today for the second annual fishing rodeo which will be held May 28, and not May 21 as announced earlier, at the Tri-State Casting Club. The rodeo will be sponsored by VFW Post 66.

Nick Turkaly, youth activities chairman, said the rodeo will be from 1 to 4 p. m. and there will be no entry fee, but contestants must furnish bait, stringers and either poles or fishing rods. Club members will help instruct the youngsters.

Girls and boys 15 years or under are eligible to participate. Prizes will be awarded in three age brackets for the largest fish, the smallest fish and the most fish caught.

Participants will register at the Casting Club the day of the rodeo with Turkaly.

Youngsters who need transportation are asked to report to the VFW post home on Minerva St. by 12:30 on May 28.

Batting — Bob Cerv, Athletes, hit three home runs in doubleheader sweep over Detroit 5-0 and 5-4.

Pitching — Don Cardwell, Cubs, 24-year-old right-handed pitcher pitched no-hitter in first start since trade by Phillies, retiring 26 Cardinals in succession after walking second hitter in first inning for 4-0 second game victory.

Educated Dog

ARDMORE, Okla. (AP) — Vernon Snell, Oklahoma City Times sports editor, said he saw an airdale standing in front of a building. On impulse put it through an obedience test. The dog responded to every command.

Its owner came outside and the dog playfully leaped on him. Snell explained what he had done and the owner was dumbfounded. The dog had learned its commands in Spanish and Snell spoke only English.

Cincinnati-Philly Game Marked By Free-For-All

CINCINNATI (AP)—Billy Martin, Cincinnati Reds' second baseman, has been trying to live down his old reputation as a brawler.

But the fists were flying again Sunday and this time Martin was tagged, he says, trying to be a peacemaker.

"I never figured I'd get hit breaking up a fight," said the former American Leaguer. "Sucker punched—that's what it was."

Billy said pitcher Gene Conley gave him the wallop.

It came during the biggest free-for-all brawl in Crosley Field in years, in the eighth inning of the first of two Reds' games with Phildelphia.

The Phils were far ahead and went on to win, 14-3. Cincinnati won the more sedate nightcap, 5-1.

Red reliefer Raul Sanchez hit three Phillie batters with low, erratic pitches. The third one hit Conley.

Phillie Manager Gene Mauch charged at Sanchez, fire in his eye. Redleg first baseman Frank Robinson drifted over to halt Mauch. So did Martin.

"All I did is try to intercept him," said Martin. "I grabbed him, but from behind, somebody slugs me.

"I turn around and it's Conley. Brave, isn't he. Sucker punching!"

Mauch tangled with Sanchez and that emptied the dugouts of both teams. Fist-fighting started in earnest and relief pitchers streaked from the bullpens to help.

For 12 minutes the brawlers roved around the field, rassling and punching on the ground in groups of four or five, or squaring off, man to man. Finally peacemakers prevailed.

Robinson found himself on the bottom of a pile of three Phillie players at one point.

Later he and Phillie pitcher Robin Roberts tangled in a private punching match and had to be separated.

Roberts apologized to Robinson, saying, "I made a remark I shouldn't have made. I was mad at the time."

Nobody was ejected when the umpires finally cleared the field.

Martin was the only combatant visibly hurt. The punch raised a big swelling where Martin's jaw was broken by a pitch last year. X-rays later showed no break.

But that didn't cool Martin. Billy, 5-feet-11 tall, fumed over Conley's height. "It's tough hitting them 6-foot-8 guys," he said, "but just gimme a stool!"

Martin broke away from a group of restraining peacemakers once during the melee and hunted for Conley.

"I hit him once in the neck," the second baseman said. "Cripes, he's to big I can't reach his face."

Cubs' Cardwell Hurls First No-Hitter Of Season Over Cards

Orioles Sweep Red Sox, Gain Deadlock For First Place

Bucs Split Pair With Milwaukee

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Don Cardwell is a shining example of the old baseball cliche that a change of uniform is good for a man now and then.

Unable to last more than six innings for the Philadelphia Phillies who traded him Friday, the 24-year-old right-hander came through with a no-hit, no-run game Sunday, in his first start as a Chicago Cub.

Cardwell retired the first hitter, walked Alex Grammas on a 3-2 pitch and then set down 26 St. Louis Cardinals in succession en route to his 4-0 victory.

It was the first no-hitter in the National League since Sal Maglie of the Dodgers, then Brooklyn, threw one against the Phillies in the waning days of the 1956 pennant race.

Pittsburgh's Harvey Haddix pitched 12 perfect innings last year only to give up a hit and lose the game to Milwaukee in the 13th. The last American League no-hitter was pitched by Hoyt Wilhelm of Baltimore against New York, Sept. 20, 1958.

Cardwell's only previous 1960 win was in relief against Milwaukee. He had lost to Pittsburgh and Milwaukee and failed to go the route in four starts. Over the years he has had only fair success in the majors, never getting up to the .500 mark for a full season.

In the ninth pinch hitter Carl Sawatski slammed a long drive to right field that George Altman caught against the wall. With two out and a 3-2 count on Joe Cunningham, the batter hit a low liner to left which Walt Moryn grabbed for a shoestring catch.

Cardwell's dramatic performance in the second game came after St. Louis finally had won its first game on the road. The Cards' 6-1 decision in the opener with the help of two home runs by Ken Boyer broke a 12-game losing streak away from home.

Orlando Cepeda's two-run triple in the eighth gave first-place San Francisco a 2-0 decision over Los Angeles. Johnny Antonelli allowed only six hits in his first complete game of the year, boosting the Giants' lead over Pittsburgh to 1½ games.

Pittsburgh had to be satisfied with a split at Milwaukee. The Pirates hopped on Warren Spahn for four runs in the first inning and took the opener 6-4 but bowed to the Braves in the second 4-2 on Hank Aaron's three-run homer off Bennie Daniels in the first inning.

Cincinnati and Philadelphia players engaged in a free-for-all in the eighth inning of their first game after the Reds' Raul Sanchez hit three Philly batters with low pitches. Manager Gene Mauch of the Phils charged the mound and players from both sides squared off. Billy Martin of the Reds went to the hospital from a punch on the jaw. The Phils won the first 14-3 for Gene Conley and the Reds got even 5-1 behind Don Newcombe.

Kuenn's HR Gives Indians Nightcap

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

The "Baby Birds" from Baltimore threaten to put the accent on youth in the American League race. With the help of one 21-year-old and another of 22, the Orioles have flown into a first place tie with the venerable Chicago White Sox.

Steve Barber, a left-hander, is the 21-year-old. Vaulting from the low minors Barber won his second for the Orioles with a fine three-hitter against Boston in the 2-1 first game of a double header Sunday.

Chuch Estrada, 22, wasn't even on the Baltimore roster in the spring but when he showed up there was no sending him home. He walked in to relieve Hector Brown with the bases loaded and none out in the sixth inning of the second game at Boston and struck out five men in a four-inning workout.

Brown got credit for the victory because the Orioles were well on their way to a 7-4 victory when he left.

Early Wynn, Chicago's 40-year-old ace, finally hit his stride, blanking Cleveland with five hits, 4-1, in his first complete game of the year. However, the Indians came back to beat Gerry Staley in the second game 6-3 on a three-run homer by Harvey Kuenn in the 10th inning.

New York rolled up five in the first inning, in which Elston Howard tripled with the bases loaded, and rolled to an 11-2 romp over Washington behind Art Ditmar.

Kansas City blasted Detroit's four-game winning streak by taking both ends of a doubleheader, 5-0 on Bud Daley's three-hitter and 5-4 on Harry Chiti's 10th inning clutch single.

Rookie Marv Breeding hit his first big league home run for Baltimore leading off in the first inning of the opener. Clint Courtney's sacrifice fly drove in the deciding run in the seventh. Baltimore chased Frank Sullivan in a six-run first inning in the second game.

Wynn's performance must have been pleasing to Manager Al Lopez of the White Sox for it was his first victory of the year. Chicago took a 3-2 lead into the ninth inning of the second game but the Indians tied it and won on Kuenn's first homer of the year with Johnny Temple and Jimmy Piersall on base in the 10th. It was Staley's first defeat.

Gil McDougald and Tony Kubek homered for the Yanks and Earl Battey and Jim Lemon for the Senators in the game at Washington.

Bob Cerv smashed three home runs for Kansas City, two in the first game to back up Daley's fine pitching. Chiti drove in four of the Kansas City runs in the second game with a two-run homer, a double and his game-winning single.

Red-Hot Pirates Slam 57 Hits In 4 Contests

By DAVE O'HARA

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The red-hot Pittsburgh Pirates left Milwaukee's County Stadium echoing with the stinging ring of base hits. And the Braves' highly-touted pitching corps was in a virtual state of shock.

The Pirates blasted out 57 hits, 21 for extra bases, to capture the series three games to one and take a firmer hold on second place in the National League flag chase.

Pittsburgh belted the Braves 6-4 in the opener of a double-header Sunday, but then had a five-game winning streak snapped as the Braves salvaged the series wind-up 4-2 on Hank Aaron's three-run homer.

"We ran out of timely hits in the second game," said Pittsburgh Manager Danny Murtaugh. "Otherwise, we would have had a sweep. We have a long home stand opening Tuesday and if the boys can keep hitting we should do all right."

The Pirates enjoyed a field day at the expense of the Braves until finally stopped by southpaw Juan Pizarro and relief artist Don McMahon in the nightcap of the twin bill. They still managed 11 hits.

"They were hot and there was no stopping them," said Milwaukee Manager Charlie Dressen. "But let's wait until July and August. They don't have a lineup of .400 hitters. They all do come down sometime."

Fishing Rodeo Set On May 28

Plans moved ahead today for the second annual fishing rodeo which will be held May 28, and not May 21 as announced earlier, at the Tri-State Casting Club. The rodeo will be sponsored by VFW Post 66.

Nick Turkaly, youth activities chairman, said the rodeo will be from 1 to 4 p. m. and there will be no entry fee, but contestants must furnish bait, stringers and either poles or fishing rods. Club members will help instruct the youngsters.

Girls and boys 15 years or under are eligible to participate. Prizes will be awarded in three age brackets for the largest fish, the smallest fish and the most fish caught.

Participants will register at the Casting Club the day of the rodeo with Turkaly.

Youngsters who need transportation are asked to report to the VFW post home on Minerva St. by 12:30 on May 28.

Cincinnati-Philly Game Marked By Free-For-All

CINCINNATI (AP)—Billy Martin, Cincinnati Reds' second baseman, has been trying to live down his old reputation as a brawler.

But the fists were flying again Sunday and this time Martin was tagged, he says, trying to be a peacemaker.

"I never figured I'd get hit breaking up a fight," said the former American Leaguer. "Sucker punched—that's what it was."

Billy said pitcher Gene Conley gave him the wallop.

It came during the biggest free-for-all brawl in Crosley Field in years, in the eighth inning of the first of two Reds' games with Phildelphia.

The Phils were far ahead and went on to win, 14-3. Cincinnati won the more sedate nightcap, 5-1.

Red reliefer Raul Sanchez hit three Phillie batters with low, erratic pitches. The third one hit Conley.

Phillie Manager Gene Mauch charged at Sanchez, fire in his eye. Redleg first baseman Frank Robinson drifted over to halt Mauch. So did Martin.

"All I did is try to intercept him," said Martin. "I grabbed him, but from behind, somebody slugs me.

"I turn around and it's Conley. Brave, isn't he. Sucker punching!"

Mauch tangled with Sanchez and that emptied the dugouts of both teams. Fist-fighting started in earnest and relief pitchers streaked from the bullpens to help.

For 12 minutes the brawlers roved around the field, rassling and punching on the ground in groups of four or five, or squaring off, man to man. Finally peacemakers prevailed.

Robinson found himself on the bottom of a pile of three Phillie players at one point.

Later he and Phillie pitcher Robin Roberts tangled in a private punching match and had to be separated.

Roberts apologized to Robinson, saying, "I made a remark I shouldn't have made. I was mad at the time."

Nobody was ejected when the umpires finally cleared the field.

Martin was the only combatant visibly hurt. The punch raised a big swelling where Martin's jaw was broken by a pitch last year. X-rays later showed no break.

But that didn't cool Martin. Billy, 5-feet-11 tall, fumed over Conley's height. "It's tough hitting them 6-foot-8 guys," he said, "but just gimme a stool!"

Martin broke away from a group of restraining peacemakers once during the melee and hunted for Conley.

"I hit him once in the neck," the second baseman said. "Cripes, he's to big I can't reach his face."

Tonia Wins 100-Mile Race From Newark

A 100-mile race from Newark Sunday was captured by Victor Giovenco's Tonia in one hour, 57 minutes and 52 seconds.

Second in the East Liverpool Homing Club race was Pat Connor's Smitty while Sweet Scherry owned by Ben Glogar finished third.

The next will be a 200-mile test from Xenia next Sunday.

Bowling Tourney Comes To An End

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — About $42,000 in prize money will be distributed within 30 days to winners in the Ohio State Bowling Assn's. 56th annual tournament for men, concluded Sunday night after 11 weekends of action.

E. D. Contractors of Springfield won the five-man team handicap division championship and a $1,000 prize with a score of 3209.

A Cleveland pair, Joe Tavano and Lawrence Sack, topped the doubles handicap division with 1354 for a $375 prize.

Charles Smith of Dayton won $185 for his high score of 768 in the singles handicap division.

In all-events, first prize of $125 goes to Walter Ward of Cleveland who posted a 1922.

In addition to cash, the first place winners in each division will receive watches.

The tournament attracted 992 teams, 2,125 bowlers in doubles and 4,250 singles.

Winners in the team, singles and doubles actual score divisions were not available immediately.

The Athletics have tried for eight seasons to beat Whitey Ford of the Yankees. He has beaten them 13 times.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I've been reading your column for a long time and I enjoy it a lot but I'm sure you must make up the letters. Nobody can be so dumb as to get into the jams that I read about in your column.

I'm not complaining, mind you, it's good entertainment. Your column alone is worth the price of this newspaper but I just had to let you know I'm reading you regularly, with tongue in check.—X-RAY ED.

Dear X-Ray: Thanks for the vote of no-confidence. It bothers me not that you think I invent the letters. You aren't the only one.

What did you think about the woman who sued her husband for divorce because he insisted that she pay him (out of her household budget) union scale wages for emptying the garbage and doing other odd jobs around the house? If you recall, he was an $18,000-a-year vice president of a bank.

And how about the man who divorced his wife because she insisted he wear a chauffeur's uniform and wait outside when she went visiting or shopping?

Good entertainment? Well, these incidents aren't from my column, Buster, they're recent news stories.

Human nature being what it is, it would be a waste of time to fabricate letters. Manufactured situations would be pale indeed, compared to what people really are up to.

Bitter Bargainer

Dear Ann: I've been married to a wonderful woman for 10 years. Her mother is dying of cancer. My wife is a registered nurse and decided to take a leave of absence from the hospital and care for her mother. We have no children and I agreed to manage alone for as long as was necessary.

She's been back home twice in the past three months. I've been out there three times. I hate being alone.

I've written my wife several bitter letters. A guy can get pretty fed up eating out and lugging his clothes to a laundry. I know she's not having a good time out there but I'm alone no matter how you look at it. I always feel a lot better after I put my thoughts down on paper. I figure I'm entitled to blow my top and she should be able to take it. Am I right?—B.D.

Dear Duke: By all means continue to write the bitter letters and the meaner the better. Get all the anger out of your system. Then mail the letters to me.

Doctor Of Dentistry

Dear Ann: A woman I know is engaged to marry a dentist. She introduces him around to everyone as Doctor So and So, which is an obvious attempt to give the false impression that he is a medical doctor.

I think she should introduce him as "Throckmorton Swineburn" (not his real name) and then say, "He's a dentist." Am I right? — A FRIEND.

-:-

Dear Friend: A dentist is a doctor of dentistry and has earned the professional title. It is perfectly proper to introduce him as Dr. Throckmorton Swineburn.—which I am happy is not his real name.

Confidentially

To Tommy's Mom: Don't deceive yourself. Tommy has pegged you as the "softest parent." Thrash out the problems with your husband privately, then present a united front. Children learn early how to play off one parent against the other.

-:-

To Black and Blue: Tell him to practice the judo holds on his male friends. I don't blame your father for getting burned up.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Poles Hold Meeting

CLEVELAND (AP) — Nearly 4,000 Cleveland area Polish-Americans gathered Sunday to mark the 169th anniversary of the signing of Poland's first democratic constitution. About half those attending the gathering in the Fine Arts Garden at the Cleveland Art Museum took part in a parade through the area before the meeting. The meeting approved a resolution asking President Eisenhower to demand from Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev free elections and independence for Poland at the summit conference in Paris.

Priest Urges Meeting Of Peace Prize Group

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The Rev. Dominique Georges Pire, O.P., 1958 winner of the Nobel Peace Prize, advocates a meeting of Nobel and Lenin peace award recipients to promote world understanding.

Father Pire, a Belgian Dominican priest, was awarded an honorary doctor of laws degree by St. Louis University Sunday.

Boy, 7, Takes An Auto And Then Takes A Ride

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP) —Police say a seven-year-old boy spotted a car parked in a service station, its keys in the ignition.

The boy, unidentified, decided to take a ride.

He drove the car 11 blocks without incident and quit only when he drove into a dead-end street. He didn't know how to turn the car around.

44 Children Examined

LISBON — Some 44 children were given physical examinations at the West Local School near East Rochester Friday, according to Dr. C. S. Palmer, county health commissioner. The staff gave 29 vaccinations, 10 polio shots and 19 immunizations in the pre-school clinic. The second-round pre-school clinic will be at West Local June 10.

Driver To Appeal Traffic Penalties

Henry E. Honaker of Phyllis Ave., Chester, was fined a total of $60 and costs on three traffic charges at a hearing before Mayor Burton Ward Saturday.

Honaker, who immediately filed an appeal to the Hancock County Circuit Court, was fined $25 and costs each for operating a car without a West Virginia license and without a city license and $10 and costs for improper auto registration.

He was cited early this month by police, who said he had resided in Chester for a year using an Ohio license.

Robert H. Graham, 18, of Louisiana Ave. was fined $25 and costs Saturday for reckless driving. He was cited Tuesday night after his auto hit a parked sedan on 3rd St.

A charge of driving without a city driver's license was filed and Mayor Ward granted a continuation of the hearing on the charge until Saturday.

Government Debt In County Boosted

The per capita local government debt in Columbiana County amounted to $144.50 in December 1959, a jump of over $100 from the $40.09 debt per person in 1949, according to State Auditor James A. Rhodes.

The average in Ohio is $219.89, a report from Rhodes shows, ranging from a low of $43.89 per person in Morgan County to a high of $356.22 in Hamilton County.

The county's total local government debt was $15,696,828 in December.

Jefferson County's per capita debt was $174.37 last year, compared to $31.83 in 1949.

In addition to this per capita share of local government debt in the county, each person's share of the state debt of $534 million is $54.88. Each individual's share of the $285 billion national debt is $1,583.

War Orphans Eligible For College Allowance

The war orphans education program offers the sons and daughters of veterans who died in wartime military service, or from disease or injury incurred or aggravated in line of duty, the chance to get a college education, A. G. Bille, VA contact representative, said today.

They receive an allowance of up to $110 a month while at school. Before the war orphan begins his actual course of study, he receives vocational counseling to help him pick the course best for him. The program is for children generally between ages 18 and 23 although there are exceptions.

Anyone needing information or help on any of the benefits provided for from the Veterans Administration, may telephone or visit the area VA office at 227 N. 5th St., Steubenville, telephone ATlantic 2-9781, Bille said.

23 Attend Workshop For Beaver Teachers

Some 23 teachers from Beaver Local district schools at Calcutta, Oak Grove, Rogers, West Point and Elkton attended a language arts workshop Saturday at the Beaver Local Public School.

Loren Ruff, county elementary supervisor, spoke, and discussion leaders were Mrs. Anne Kirkbride, Mrs. Mary Lee, Mrs. Lucille Smith and Mrs. Louise Hampson. Urban Petros was in charge.

Police Get New Car

LISBON — The Lehman Bros. Motor Co. delivered a new Dodge Dart cruiser to the police department Friday, replacing a Plymouth that had over 90,000 miles. Council ordered the car March 29 at a cost of $1,467.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

2 IN MEMORIAM

A CRASH on life's highway, and we laid to rest the two dearest ones who loved us best—our dear father Frank and sweet brother Bill. We can't believe it was really God's will. For if God would control all the wreckless ones here, devoted families wouldn't part for many a year. Eight suffering hours for Bill and thirty for Dad, then they were gone, their last instructions I had. Bill's words were "Come on Jesus, and take me home." Father wanted the valley of death to roam. Our Jesus does promise us peace and rest; our prayer is, "God, grant it to the ones we loved best". Inseparable in life, they lie buried as one 'til our Savior shall say, "Come forth, father and son".

Sadly missed by those who remain, Mrs. Helen Reed, Judith, Bonnie, Frank and Billy Reed, Mrs. Ethel Cameron and sons, Richard and Robert Cameron.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I've been reading your column for a long time and I enjoy it a lot but I'm sure you must make up the letters. Nobody can be so dumb as to get into the jams that I read about in your column.

I'm not complaining, mind you, it's good entertainment. Your column alone is worth the price of this newspaper but I just had to let you know I'm reading you regularly, with tongue in check.—X-RAY ED.

Dear X-Ray: Thanks for the vote of no-confidence. It bothers me not that you think I invent the letters. You aren't the only one.

What did you think about the woman who sued her husband for divorce because he insisted that she pay him (out of her household budget) union scale wages for emptying the garbage and doing other odd jobs around the house? If you recall, he was an $18,000-a-year vice president of a bank.

And how about the man who divorced his wife because she insisted he wear a chauffeur's uniform and wait outside when she went visiting or shopping?

Good entertainment? Well, these incidents aren't from my column, Buster, they're recent news stories.

Human nature being what it is, it would be a waste of time to fabricate letters. Manufactured situations would be pale indeed, compared to what people really are up to.

Bitter Bargainer

Dear Ann: I've been married to a wonderful woman for 10 years. Her mother is dying of cancer. My wife is a registered nurse and decided to take a leave of absence from the hospital and care for her mother. We have no children and I agreed to manage alone for as long as was necessary.

She's been back home twice in the past three months. I've been out there three times. I hate being alone.

I've written my wife several bitter letters. A guy can get pretty fed up eating out and lugging his clothes to a laundry. I know she's not having a good time out there but I'm alone no matter how you look at it. I always feel a lot better after I put my thoughts down on paper. I figure I'm entitled to blow my top and she should be able to take it. Am I right?—B.D.

Dear Duke: By all means continue to write the bitter letters and the meaner the better. Get all the anger out of your system. Then mail the letters to me.

Doctor Of Dentistry

Dear Ann: A woman I know is engaged to marry a dentist. She introduces him around to everyone as Doctor So and So, which is an obvious attempt to give the false impression that he is a medical doctor.

I think she should introduce him as "Throckmorton Swineburn" (not his real name) and then say, "He's a dentist." Am I right? — A FRIEND.

-:-

Dear Friend: A dentist is a doctor of dentistry and has earned the professional title. It is perfectly proper to introduce him as Dr. Throckmorton Swineburn.—which I am happy is not his real name.

Confidentially

To Tommy's Mom: Don't deceive yourself. Tommy has pegged you as the "softest parent." Thrash out the problems with your husband privately, then present a united front. Children learn early how to play off one parent against the other.

-:-

To Black and Blue: Tell him to practice the judo holds on his male friends. I don't blame your father for getting burned up.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Poles Hold Meeting

CLEVELAND (AP) — Nearly 4,000 Cleveland area Polish-Americans gathered Sunday to mark the 169th anniversary of the signing of Poland's first democratic constitution. About half those attending the gathering in the Fine Arts Garden at the Cleveland Art Museum took part in a parade through the area before the meeting. The meeting approved a resolution asking President Eisenhower to demand from Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev free elections and independence for Poland at the summit conference in Paris.

Priest Urges Meeting Of Peace Prize Group

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The Rev. Dominique Georges Pire, O.P., 1958 winner of the Nobel Peace Prize, advocates a meeting of Nobel and Lenin peace award recipients to promote world understanding.

Father Pire, a Belgian Dominican priest, was awarded an honorary doctor of laws degree by St. Louis University Sunday.

Boy, 7, Takes An Auto And Then Takes A Ride

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP) —Police say a seven-year-old boy spotted a car parked in a service station, its keys in the ignition.

The boy, unidentified, decided to take a ride.

He drove the car 11 blocks without incident and quit only when he drove into a dead-end street. He didn't know how to turn the car around.

44 Children Examined

LISBON — Some 44 children were given physical examinations at the West Local School near East Rochester Friday, according to Dr. C. S. Palmer, county health commissioner. The staff gave 29 vaccinations, 10 polio shots and 19 immunizations in the pre-school clinic. The second-round pre-school clinic will be at West Local June 10.

Driver To Appeal Traffic Penalties

Henry E. Honaker of Phyllis Ave., Chester, was fined a total of $60 and costs on three traffic charges at a hearing before Mayor Burton Ward Saturday.

Honaker, who immediately filed an appeal to the Hancock County Circuit Court, was fined $25 and costs each for operating a car without a West Virginia license and without a city license and $10 and costs for improper auto registration.

He was cited early this month by police, who said he had resided in Chester for a year using an Ohio license.

Robert H. Graham, 18, of Louisiana Ave. was fined $25 and costs Saturday for reckless driving. He was cited Tuesday night after his auto hit a parked sedan on 3rd St.

A charge of driving without a city driver's license was filed and Mayor Ward granted a continuation of the hearing on the charge until Saturday.

Government Debt In County Boosted

The per capita local government debt in Columbiana County amounted to $144.50 in December 1959, a jump of over $100 from the $40.09 debt per person in 1949, according to State Auditor James A. Rhodes.

The average in Ohio is $219.89, a report from Rhodes shows, ranging from a low of $43.89 per person in Morgan County to a high of $356.22 in Hamilton County.

The county's total local government debt was $15,696,828 in December.

Jefferson County's per capita debt was $174.37 last year, compared to $31.83 in 1949.

In addition to this per capita share of local government debt in the county, each person's share of the state debt of $534 million is $54.88. Each individual's share of the $285 billion national debt is $1,583.

War Orphans Eligible For College Allowance

The war orphans education program offers the sons and daughters of veterans who died in wartime military service, or from disease or injury incurred or aggravated in line of duty, the chance to get a college education, A. G. Bille, VA contact representative, said today.

They receive an allowance of up to $110 a month while at school. Before the war orphan begins his actual course of study, he receives vocational counseling to help him pick the course best for him. The program is for children generally between ages 18 and 23 although there are exceptions.

Anyone needing information or help on any of the benefits provided for from the Veterans Administration, may telephone or visit the area VA office at 227 N. 5th St., Steubenville, telephone ATlantic 2-9781, Bille said.

23 Attend Workshop For Beaver Teachers

Some 23 teachers from Beaver Local district schools at Calcutta, Oak Grove, Rogers, West Point and Elkton attended a language arts workshop Saturday at the Beaver Local Public School.

Loren Ruff, county elementary supervisor, spoke, and discussion leaders were Mrs. Anne Kirkbride, Mrs. Mary Lee, Mrs. Lucille Smith and Mrs. Louise Hampson. Urban Petros was in charge.

Police Get New Car

LISBON — The Lehman Bros. Motor Co. delivered a new Dodge Dart cruiser to the police department Friday, replacing a Plymouth that had over 90,000 miles. Council ordered the car March 29 at a cost of $1,467.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

2 IN MEMORIAM

A CRASH on life's highway, and we laid to rest the two dearest ones who loved us best—our dear father Frank and sweet brother Bill. We can't believe it was really God's will. For if God would control all the wreckless ones here, devoted families wouldn't part for many a year. Eight suffering hours for Bill and thirty for Dad, then they were gone, their last instructions I had. Bill's words were "Come on Jesus, and take me home." Father wanted the valley of death to roam. Our Jesus does promise us peace and rest; our prayer is, "God, grant it to the ones we loved best" Inseparable in life, they lie buried as one 'til our Savior shall say, "Come forth, father and son".

Sadly missed by those who remain, Mrs. Helen Reed, Judith, Bonnie, Frank and Billy Reed, Mrs. Ethel Cameron and sons, Richard and Robert Cameron.

Girls' State Representatives Entertained At Tea In Lisbon

The auxiliary of John J. Welsh American Legion Post at Lisbon was hostess Saturday afternoon at a Girls State tea. Forty attended.

From the 9 units comprising the Columbiana County Council, representatives included the delegates, alternates and the mothers of those who will attend this years' Girls State June 18-25 at Capitol University in Columbus and the delegate and mothers of those who attended the 1959 meeting.

Also present were the presidents and the Americanism chairmen of each auxiliary. Mrs. Gertrude McLaughlin, first vice-president of the county council, was in charge of business.

Last year's delegates told of their experiences and advised this year's delegates on various details. Mrs. Effie Broomall of Salem, councilor at Girls State, explained the nature and purpose of the conference.

A buffet table was centered with an arrangement of snapdragons and ceramic dolls. Mrs. Wanda Shaw, president of the Lisbon auxiliary, presided at the punch bowl.

Group Holds Inspection

Miss Alta Easterday served as most excellent chief when inspection of the Pythian Sister Order was held in the temple Friday night. Approximately 60 were present.

Mrs. Helen Latham fo East Palestine, district deputy grand chief, was inspecting officer. Three candidates were initiated.

Lunch was served from a buffet table laid in white and centered with an arrangement of spring flowers and small white tapers. Mrs. Forrest McClintock presided at the punch bowl.

Guests were present from Columbiana, East Palestine, Rogers and Washingtonville.

The Optimistic Club met Friday night with Mrs. Fred Steele at her home on N. Market St.

Duplicate bridge was featured.

Mrs. Lodge Riddle will entertain May 27.

Mrs. Clyde Hadley represented Caldwell Rebekah Lodge of Lisbon when the executive committee of District 27, Ohio Rebekah Assembly, met Wednesday, in the Rebekah Hall at Leetonia.

Mrs. Hazel Gotthardt, district president conducted business following luncheon. Other representatives were from Salem, Alliance, Columbiana, Sebring, East Palestine and Leetonia.

Plans were made for a school of instruction to be held June 21 at the Orchard Hill School in Leetonia.

Classes Hold Dinner

The Crusaders Class of the First Presbyterian Church held its monthly meeting at the church Thursday night and was joined by the Mariners Class for a covered-dish dinner.

Both classes are comprised of young married couples. Thirty were present.

Mrs. Forrest Lowry, president of the Crusaders, conducted business.

Mrs. Harold Martsolf of East Palestine, teacher of the Lisbon class of retarded children, spoke on her work.

The Bethany Class of the First Christian Church met Friday night at the church, with Miss Goldie Carlisle as hostess.

Mrs. Lawrence Snow, vice-president, was in charge of business. Lunch was served in the diningroom.

Final plans were made for the auction which the class will sponsor for the building repair fund. It will be held at the Pleasant Heights Community Auction Center Friday night at 7. Tom George will be auctioneer. Anyone having household articles, clothing, baked goods or other items may call HA-4 3527 or HA-4 7024 and they will be picked up any night this week.

7 Attend Lodge Rite

Mr. and Mrs. Eddie James, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cope, Mr. and Mrs. Leland Adams and Mrs. Walter Lipp attended an Eastern Star inspection at Canal Fulton Saturday night. Mrs. Cope, grand representative for the state of Washington, was given special recognition.

Mrs. John Fitch of E. Lincoln Way returned home this week after spending several days with her son, Mr. and Mrs. John McNutt and daughters of Nashville, Tenn.

Mrs. Agnes Wilson of Girard visited Saturday with her sister, Mrs. Helen O'Brine of E. Lincoln Way.

Miss Stella Patterson spent the weekend with her brother, Police Officer Roy E. Patterson of E. Pine St., returning to Canton Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Weinstock and children, Gretchen, Geoffrey and Gayla, of Ravenna visited over the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. V. Weinstock and son of Canfield Rd.

Lincoln School Patrol Attends Indians' Game

Eighteen members of the safety patrol at Lincoln School attended the Cleveland Indians - Chicago White Sox baseball game in Cleveland Saturday.

The trip was sponsored by the Lincoln Parent - Teacher Association. On the return trip, the boys had dinner at a turnpike restaurant.

Making the trip were: John Dunlap, Malcolm Ogilvie, William Hopper, Ralph Sheets, Edward Sheets, Monte Carnegie, Dennis Hoeffner, Clement Rall, Robert Emmerling, John Welker, Gary Barringer, Ernest Grogg, James Dunlap, Michael Baxter, Don Edgar, Michael Coleman, Gary Schneidmiller and Robert Walker.

Msgr. Flanigan Plans To Mark 50th Jubilee

Msgr. Michael J. Flanigan of Cleveland, who served at St. Aloysius Church here soon after his ordination in 1910, will complete 50 years in the Catholic priesthood Saturday.

Founder pastor of St. Vincent de Paul Church in Cleveland, Msgr. Flanigan will observe the anniversary with three ceremonies. A solemn high mass of thanksgiving is set next Sunday.

A native of Mansfield, he served in Canton and East Liverpool in the first years after his ordination May 21, 1910. About 1918, he went to Cleveland to found St. Vincent de Paul Parish.

Mob's Victim Dies

NDOLA, Northern Rhodesia (AP)—Mrs. Lilian Burton, 39, who was stoned and set afire by a Negro mob a week ago, died today in a hospital from burns and facial injuries.

Aristotle, some 2,300 years ago, said: "Even when laws have been written down, they ought not always to remain unaltered."

Youth Held In Jail In Fatal Stabbing

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A 14-year-old youth was being held in Allegheny County Jail today in the fatal stabbing of another youth.

County detective Ted Botula said the stabbing Saturday night climaxed a long-standing feud between the pair.

Botula said Delbert C. Fitzgerald of nearby Whitehall made a former statement admitting he plunged a penkinfe into the chest of Evan D. Schuster, 18, also of Whitehall.

Fitzgerald was lodged in jail to await placing a formal charge by the coroner.

Botula said ill feeling had existed between the boys for some time, although no particular reason could be learned.

They happened to meet Saturday night on a quiet residential street in suburban Brentwood, Botula said. He related that an exchange of angry words led to a pushing match and finally the stabbing.

Botula said two youths were with Fitzgerald but were not involved in the actual stabbing. They were turned over to Juvenile Court as material witnesses.

Takes Up New Post

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Brig. Gen. Robert M. Blanchard Jr. arrived today to take up his new post as chief of the Army section of the U.S. Military Assistance Advisory Group.

About nine million children under the age of 15 in the United States have some form of chronic condition — from hay fever or flat feet to heart disease or paralysis.

$600 Blaze Damages Wellsville Apartment

Fire caused some $600 damage to the apartment of Miss Mary Johnston, 1415 Main St., Wellsville, Saturday night at 8.

Firemen said the blaze started when a cigarette was dropped on a davenport. No one was home at the time. Other residents of the multiple-family dwelling were forced out by the smoke.

Firemen said $300 damage resulted to the building and $300 to the contents. The building is owned by James Sanders of Irondale.

A passerby noticed the fire and notified others in the apartment.

Leaves Hospital

PRETORIA, South Africa (AP)—Prime Minister Hendrick F. Verwoerd has been released from the hospital, where an assassin's bullets put him April 9, but it will be some weeks before he returns to full-time duty.

Girls' State Representatives Entertained At Tea In Lisbon

The auxiliary of John J. Welsh American Legion Post at Lisbon was hostess Saturday afternoon at a Girls State tea. Forty attended.

From the 9 units comprising the Columbiana County Council, representatives included the delegates, alternates and the mothers of those who will attend this years' Girls State June 18-25 at Capitol University in Columbus and the delegate and mothers of those who attended the 1959 meeting.

Also present were the presidents and the Americanism chairmen of each auxiliary. Mrs. Gertrude McLaughlin, first vice-president of the county council, was in charge of business.

Last year's delegates told of their experiences and advised this year's delegates on various details. Mrs. Effie Broomall of Salem, councilor at Girls State, explained the nature and purpose of the conference.

A buffet table was centered with an arrangement of snapdragons and ceramic dolls. Mrs. Wanda Shaw, president of the Lisbon auxiliary, presided at the punch bowl.

Group Holds Inspection

Miss Alta Easterday served as most excellent chief when inspection of the Pythian Sister Order was held in the temple Friday night. Approximately 60 were present.

Mrs. Helen Latham fo East Palestine, district deputy grand chief, was inspecting officer. Three candidates were initiated.

Guests were present from Columbiana, East Palestine, Rogers and Washingtonville.

The Optimistic Club met Friday night with Mrs. Fred Steele at her home on N. Market St.

Duplicate bridge was featured.

Mrs. Lodge Riddle will entertain May 27.

Mrs. Clyde Hadley represented Caldwell Rebekah Lodge of Lisbon when the executive committee of District 27, Ohio Rebekah Assembly, met Wednesday, in the Rebekah Hall at Leetonia.

Mrs. Hazel Gotthardt, district president conducted business following luncheon. Other representatives were from Salem, Alliance, Columbiana, Sebring, East Palestine and Leetonia.

Plans were made for a school of instruction to be held June 21 at the Orchard Hill School in Leetonia.

Classes Hold Dinner

The Crusaders Class of the First Presbyterian Church held its monthly meeting at the church Thursday night and was joined by the Mariners Class for a covered-dish dinner.

Both classes are comprised of young married couples. Thirty were present.

Mrs. Forrest Lowry, president of the Crusaders, conducted business.

Mrs. Harold Martsolf of East Palestine, teacher of the Lisbon class of retarded children, spoke on her work.

The Bethany Class of the First Christian Church met Friday night at the church, with Miss Goldie Carlisle as hostess.

Mrs. Lawrence Snow, vice-president, was in charge of business. Lunch was served in the diningroom.

Final plans were made for the auction which the class will sponsor for the building repair fund. It will be held at the Pleasant Heights Community Auction Center Friday night at 7. Tom George will be auctioneer. Anyone having household articles, clothing, baked goods or other items may call HA-4 3527 or HA-4 7024 and they will be picked up any night this week.
